TWITTER TO RESTRICT VISIBILITY OF TWEETS THAT VIOLATE ITS POLICY

The social media platform will allow freedom of speech but not 'freedom of reach' as it will restrict visibility of tweets that violate its rules

HATEFUL CONTENT FIRST IN LINE TO FACE CURBS

In its policy update, Twitter said it will initially apply the visibility filter on tweets that are found violating hateful conduct rules and expand it to other domains later. The social media firm said users have the right to express their opinions and ideas without fear of censorship. However, if they are violative of norms, Twitter will do the needful to keep other users safe from such content

BETTER THAN 'LEAVE UP VS TAKE DOWN' STYLE

- Twitter said restricting the reach of tweets, also known as visibility filtering, is one of its existing enforcement actions to move beyond the binary 'leave up versus take down' approach to content moderation
- It also admitted that like other social platforms, it has not been historically transparent on this when it has taken up this action

SC defines boundaries of same-sex union case

Criticises Centre's request to hear maintainability of the matter first

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

A five-member Constitution bench of the Supreme Court on Tuesday said it would not go into personal laws governing marriage while deciding pleas seeking legal recognition of same-sex union and instead examine it from the prism of the Special Marriage Act.

Chief Justice of India D Y Chandrachud observed that there was no absolute concept of a man or a woman. "It's not the question of what your genitals are. It's far more complex and even when Special Marriage Act says man and woman, the notion of a man and a woman is not an absolute based on genitals," he said.

The court brushed aside the Centre's request to decide on the maintainability of the pleas first, saying the government should not tell the judges how to conduct the proceedings.

Solicitor General Tushar Mehta, in his opening remarks, said the issue of creation of a social-legal relationship of marriage could not be debated by just five individuals on that side, five on this side, five brilliant minds on the bench for the entire nation, as the matter was sensitive in nature.

Pointing out that marriage is a legislative function and that it is on the concurrent list, Mehta said all parties need to be heard. Claiming that only a biological man and woman can enter into a valid wedlock, he said, acceptance of societal relationships is never dependent on judgments or legislations. It comes only from within. "Even in the Special Marriage Act, the legislative intent throughout has been of a relationship between a biological male and a biological female," he argued.

The CJI rebutted, "I'm sorry Mr Solicitor, we are in charge. Don't tell us how to conduct court proceedings," adding and the nature and tenability of the preliminary objection will depend on the canvas the petitioners open up.

He said an incremental approach to the process of judicial determination in the case would reflect sage wisdom. The court, he said, will play a dialogical role to create consensus and move towards a more equal future. "We're conscious of our limitations. We can always confine our canvas," the CJI said.

He also pointed out that after the SC decriminalised unnatural sex, the verdict found greater acceptance. "We find there is greater acceptance in our universities... There is an acceptance which is evolving."

Terming the state's submission that people belonging to LGBTQIA+ are not equal to the heterosexual group as astounding, senior advocate Mukul Rohatgi said their social stigma can be removed only after they get the legal right to marry.

NO PIECEMEAL APPROACH PLEASE: SIBAL

Senior advocate Kapil Sibal, appearing for Jamiat-Ulama-i-Hind, said the court should either hear the issue in its entirety or not at all. A piecemeal approach will cause more harm than good to the group seeking legal validation for same-sex marriages, he pointed out

Stranded in Sudan, 31 Hakki-Pikkis send SOS

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

THIRTY-ONE people from the Hakki-Pikki tribal community, who have been stranded in Sudan since clashes between army and paramilitary forces broke out in that country, on Tuesday sought help from the Karnataka government to return home.

The Karnataka State Disaster Monitoring Centre (KSNDMC) under the Revenue Department is working in close coordination with the Ministry of External Affairs to rescue and bring back the Hakki-Pikki community members and other Kannadigas stranded in Sudan.

The KSNDMC office got a call from one of the stranded tribal community members on Tuesday seeking help to return home. "As soon as we got the rescue call from El Fashir, we informed the MEA, which has now taken up the matter," KSNDMC Director Manoj Rajan told TNIE .

He said though the caller stated that 31 members of the community are looking for help to return home, there could be many more from Karnataka stranded in war-torn Sudan. They have been told to follow instructions from the Indian Embassy and stay safe.

Meanwhile, reacting to ex-CM Siddaramaiah's tweet, External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar, tweeted: "Simply appalled at your tweet! There are lives at stake; don't do politics. Since the fighting started on April 14th, the Embassy of India in Khartoum has been continuously in touch with most Indian Nationals and PIOs in Sudan. (sic)." P5

STATE WON'T USE NEW QUOTA MATRIX FOR APPOINTMENTS TILL APRIL 25, SC TOLD

NEW DELHI: The Karnataka government on Tuesday assured the Supreme Court that till April 25, it won't make any appointments or admissions on the basis of its March 27 order that scrapped the 4% reservation for Muslims under the OBC quota and distributed it among the Vokkaliga and Lingayat communities. P5

BJP brass upset over Lingayat vote mess

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

THE exit of top Lingayat leaders - former CM Jagadish Shettar and former DCM Laxman Savadi - have reportedly dented BJP's Lingayat vote bank on which the party heavily banks and the central leadership is "not very happy" about the recent developments, informed sources said.

"The ground reports post Savadi and Shettar exits are not very encouraging and the BJP high command is reportedly upset over the gross miscalculation, which may have led to the latest debacle. The party is now working on damage control and heavily banking on former CM and Lingayat strongman BS Yediyurappa to regain some of the lost ground with the community," said sources.

"Though Yediyurappa had single handedly garnered the trust and support of the Lingayats, which brought BJP to power, the community, which had voted for the individual and not the party, may not vote for the saffron party this time because they know that Yediyurappa will neither become CM nor be given any significant role in the state after the Assembly elections.

The Lingayats may instead like to go with the Congress party and put their might behind MB Patil, who has strong chances of becoming CM or at least DCM if the party wins the mandate this time," said party insiders.

Santhosh behind my exit, alleges Shettar

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

FORMER chief minister Jagadish Shettar on Tuesday held BJP national general secretary (organisation) BL Santhosh responsible for his exit from the party. He told reporters here that to ensure Hubballi-Dharwad Central seat to his "blue-eyed" boy Mahesh Tenginkai, Santhosh forced him out of BJP. Shettar said this had happened to him for the second time. In the 2018 elections, Tenginkai got the party ticket for Kalaghatagi seat because of Santhosh. The party also gave him its B Form. But when local leaders strongly objected to giving ticket to an "outsider", the party gave C Form to CM Nimbannavar, asking Tenginkai to withdraw his papers.

Shettar said, "Tenginkai launched a whispering campaign six months ago stating that the party would deny me ticket and he (Tenginkai) would be a strong contender for Hubballi-Dharwad Central seat. Without the support of a 'tall' leader like Santhosh, such a campaign could not be launched." An audio clip in which BJP state president Nalin Kumar Kateel claims that Shettar and KS Eshwarappa would not be given tickets to contest the Assembly elections proved their intention right, the former BJP leader said.

He said though he had informed the State BJP Core Committee and the central leadership about a smear campaign against him within the party, they did not take it seriously. P4

FIXING TROUBLE

Punter loses money, dials Siraj for help

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

IT'S not always that big time bookies or punters approach cricketers to influence the outcome of matches. Sometimes it's done by small-time punters too. In a bizarre incident, a punter sought help from a cricketer to turnaround his fortunes. Having lost a lot of money on betting, a man recently approached India pacer Mohammed Siraj seeking his help.

The 29-year-old pacer from Hyderabad immediately reported the issue to BCCI's Anti-Corruption Unit, which sought help from cyber cops and local police to nab the person.

"He sent messages on WhatsApp to Siraj informing him about the losses he incurred on betting and wanted his help. He requested the pacer to help him out. Siraj informed us about the approach," a highly-placed source with the BCCI's ACU told this daily.

"The accused is not associated with any gang nor does he have past record of betting. He lost a lot of money while betting on matches and was hoping Siraj would help him to get out of the mess. We took the help of the cyber police. We also kept his phone under observation with the help of local police. Eventually, we traced him. Our officers accompanied local police when he was caught somewhere in Andhra," said the source. The incident happened during the India-Australia ODI series, which preceded the ongoing Indian Premier League (IPL).

The insider, however, didn't reveal what means the person used to place the bet (in the Indian context, it is governed by the Public Gambling Act of 1867 where betting is a state subject. But, by and large, it is banned in most states, save for a few exceptions).

‘Dead’ poll staffer found alive in mortuary

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mysuru

AN election officer who was declared dead, was later found alive at the hospital mortuary on Tuesday. He was immediately shifted to hospital in Mysuru for treatment.

The incident happened in Hanur town in Chamarajanagar district. Officer Jagadish, after attending an election training programme at Vivekananda School, was climbing the stairs around 10am, when he had a fall. He injured his head and fell unconscious. Other officials on poll duty immediately rushed him to the nearby Holy Cross Hospital, where doctors examined him and declared him brought dead.

UP cops to recce dists ahead of Yogi rallies

Congress, BJP worry about giant killer GTD

K SHIVA KUMAR @ Mysuru

Chamundeshwari assembly constituency, that drew national attention in 2018 when JDS leader G T Devegowda emerged a giant killer, defeating sitting chief minister Siddaramaiah by a huge margin, is again fitted out for a keen contest. The constituency, which is a traditional battleground of the Congress and JDS, is set for triangular battle for the first time.

Devegowda is looking to complete a hat-trick against Congress and BJP candidates from the dominant Vokkaliga community. The veteran is also banking on former chief minister H D Kumaraswamy's charisma, and is confident of again winning the polls by a huge margin.

However, Devegowda's open rivalry with JDS leaders, and his bonhomie with the BJP and Congress has not gone down well with the cadres. His move to join the Congress came under fire from his own party men, and many second-line leaders deserted the party after Kumaraswamy announced the ticket for Devegowda.

Siddaramaiah, who tasted the worst-ever defeat of his four decades of political career, wanted to repay it in the same coin. He appealed to voters to support Congress candidate Mavinahalli Sidde Gowda, presuming that he (Siddaramaiah) is the candidate.

The constituency, dominated by Vokkaligas, followed by Dalits, Nayakas, Kurubas and Muslims, has remained a stronghold of the Congress and JDS since 1952. Siddaramaiah contested as an Independent, supported by the Lok Dal, in 1983 and won five times, including byelections, with a narrow margin of 267 votes in 2006. The Congress is also banking on the charisma of Siddaramaiah and his large following among backward communities to defeat arch rival Devegowda.

However, after the creation of Varuna constituency in the delimitation process in 2009, Siddaramaiah contested twice, and son Yathindra once in 2018. But Siddaramaiah, who shares an emotional bond with the people of Chamundeshwari, has taken advantage of the rebellion within the JDS against Devegowda, and fielded his blue-eyed boy and rebel Sidde Gowda.

The Ahinda leader held talks with ticket aspirants in the Congress and defectors from the JDS who revolted against Devegowda's leadership, and tutored them on a unity mantra to wrest the seat from the JDS.

The BJP, which has set its eye on Old Mysuru, had fielded young educationist Kaveesh Gowda in Chamundeshwari, with the confidence that he will garner both urban and rural votes. Kaveesh Gowda, son of former Congress MLA Vasu, has organized youths and set a target to build roads in interior villages. Recalling that BJP's Manje Gowda had secured 41,000 votes in the 2008 election, the BJP is confident that PM Narendra Modi will give them some heft.

The BJP claims that differences within the Congress, the cold war among ticket aspirants and prevailing anti-incumbency against Devegowda would give them an edge as they want a youngster and new face.

However, the three Vokkaliga candidates are knocking at the doors of non-Vokkaligas, knowing they hold the key. Whoever gets the highest vote share will have the last laugh.

Vedike president, Dyapppa Nayak said that Sudeep, who also belongs to the Nayaka community, enjoys a huge fan base across all quarters.

Kulkarni still can't enter Dharwad: Court

YATHIRAJU @ Bengaluru

THE Special Court on Tuesday rejected former minister and Congress Dharwad candidate Vinay R Kulkarni's application, seeking relaxation of the order restraining him from entering Dharwad district, in connection with the murder of BJP's Zilla Panchayat member Yogesh Gowda in 2016.

Special court judge B Jayantha Kumar rejected Kulkarni's application, saying this is not a fit case to relax the condition.

"Upon verification of records and facts of the offence alleged against him, the Supreme Court has imposed the condition that he should not go to Dharwad district. The trial is yet to start, and if this court permits the accused to go to Dharwad for 50 days, the trial's purpose would be frustrated," the court said.

The court also noted that though the chargesheet was filed in 2021, the court has not been able to frame charges against him. The Supreme Court has not considered the prayer for relaxation of condition barring him from entering Dharwad district. Kulkarni said that the condition will cause irreparable damage to his political career. Kulkarni's wife had already submitted nomination papers on his behalf.

Info blackout: No RTI cell in BBMP since 2017, applicants now look for PIOs

PURAN CHOUDHARY @ Bengaluru

WITH Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) RTI cell shut since 2017, applicants now have to take up the arduous task of looking for public information officers (PIOs) themselves to file their RTI applications. Earlier, the applicants had to address their requests to 'PIO, BBMP', which would then be forwarded to the departments and officers concerned. But now the applicant has to find out the official after going through the list of PIOs from the BBMP website.

"BBMP expects people to travel across the city to find the PIOs," complained Ravindranath Guru of KRIA Katte, a forum of RTI activists. He alleged that this was a mechanism of BBMP to deny citizens information. Activist Kathyayini Chamaraj of CIVIC Bangalore said the process was simpler when the cell was active. Kathyayini had filed three RTIs, and one of them regarding a survey on kids aged 0-18 by BBMP. She is still awaiting a response. "PIOs are difficult to track down as they are field officers and have no assistants. Often the PIOs don't accept RTIs and ask to file it with another department, leaving applicants confused," she said.

Denying the claims, BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath said, "An RTI cell is not required. That system was time-consuming, and the RTI Act does not mandate a separate department." He also claimed that RTI requests were not returned. "Any application irrelevant to a department is forwarded to the department concerned," he said.

The BBMP website contains a list of around 500 PIOs and appellate authorities, only in Kannada. Girinath assured a list will be uploaded in English. According to a report by Karnataka Information Commission, 4,30,511 RTI requests have been filed in 2016-2017. However, post 2017, there are no annual reports on the website.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

19th April: Pluto is the planet of the day. We often think of it as the farthest known planet, but now we're not so sure. Most astronomers don't even call it a planet anymore, but a 'planetoid'. It seems to be one of about sixty known objects which may be left over from the phase when our solar system was forming, about four billion years ago.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
The Moon spends its third successive day in a benevolent relationship with your sign, which is not a bad tally. Only the most determined of you will insist on seeing your problems as insurmountable. The only snag I can envisage is that you're just too sensitive by half.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
The Moon's impact in a financial sector of your horoscope maintains the feeling that money is the most important consideration. However, this materialistic mood is purely temporary and, by tomorrow, you'll realise that life does indeed have a deeper purpose.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Your personal life is in danger of being turned upside down. But perhaps danger is not the right word, for many of you are ready for a change. If you know what's good for you, you'll welcome a friendly argument. You might also begin to plan domestic improvements.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Over the past few weeks, you appear to have veered between boredom and excessive activity, such is the way of the planet Mars. If someone close has tried to teach you a lesson or point out the error of your ways, I hope you have listened very carefully to their wise words.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
A number of interesting planetary formations now relate to joint financial arrangements and business affairs. I hope you don't feel that someone in the past has let you down, because it doesn't look as if any wrong was intended. You can probably join together with like-minded people to correct past mistakes.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
There's no doubt that the past few weeks have represented a turning point in your social attitudes. Eventually, I think you will see that your needs and expectations regarding intimate relationships have gone through a valuable sea-change. That's all part of being a modern Virgo!

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Although you have a reputation for being generous, you may decide that enough is enough. It's not that anyone has been exploiting you recently, but the cumulative feeling that you've been taken for granted is about to become too great to bear.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Why don't you relax your efforts and allow others to do a bit of graft? Mercury's approaching relationship to Pluto singles you out as the master planner, and it's right that other people should do what they are told. It could be a couple of weeks before you find out whether they agree!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
It is a pleasure to be able to report that the overwhelming impact of your solar alignments, and hence of the circumstances in which you find yourself, is auspicious. May I urge you not to squander your advantage by being over-emotional and impulsive, or by taking partners for granted.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
If the stars have the measure of you today, they'll encourage you to hide away and keep yourself to yourself. Your privacy is an overwhelming priority and I don't think you'll take to people who presume too much. It's a day which favours poetry over practical tasks.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
I often sense that one of your major problems is a deep lack of self-confidence but, if all goes according to plan, colleagues could be astounded by your new-found breadth of vision, optimism and self-assurance. And over the next two weeks, you'll be asserting your independence yet again.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Your lunar alignments offer you increased confidence and self-assurance. Once more, you'll have to figure out for yourself exactly what partners want. At times like these it does help to be a little telepathic, for others do seem to expect you to be a mind-reader!

Judge: Amend HC Act to allow dist courts to decide property suits

Cites delay in hearing of first appeals in High Court as reason for seeking change in law

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

JUSTICE Anant Ramanath Hegde, judge of the Karnataka High Court, has suggested an amendment to Section 5 of the Karnataka High Court Act and Section 19 of the Karnataka Civil Courts Act to confer jurisdiction to district courts to decide all appeals under Section 96 of the Code of Civil Procedure arising out of the decrees in property suits passed in senior civil judges' court instead of the high court.

Observing that this is an attempt to explore a solution to expedite the hearing of the appeals filed against decrees in property suits and reduce the workload on the high court, Justice Hegde said this is likely to be a significant step forward in achieving the noble object of speedy and cost-effective justice at the doorstep.

A total of 19,275 Regular First Appeals (RFAs) are pending before the high court and on average 6 to 8 courts are required to hear them, considering various other cases pending before the high court, according to the order passed recently by Justice Hegde in an RFA filed by Thirakavva and others from Ranebennur in a property dispute which was pending for over 16 years.

"Various factors have contributed to the delay in hearing the First Appeals. The prominent one is probably the High Court functioning far below the sanctioned strength. At present, the Karnataka High Court has the sanctioned strength of 62 judges while the current strength is 53. This assignment is in addition to other subjects," the judge said.

Judge Hegde said that around 200 courts will be available to decide RFA and those courts comparatively have a lesser number of cases to deal with, compared to the pendency in the high court. The current sanctioned strength of district judges in Karnataka is 311. Excluding the 35 judges working on the administrative side, 283 district and sessions judges are currently working on the judicial side. Judges at the district level adjudicating the appeals will ensure speedy and cost-effective justice for the parties. The existing Section 5 and Section 19 stand as big obstacles to the concept of justice at the doorstep, he added.

The judge noted that the discussion in this judgment relating to the delay in the disposal of cases is not to be construed as a criticism of the judiciary or any of the stakeholders.

We will wait and see how Congress treats him," the Dakshina Kannada MP said. He further said that the BJP Parliamentary Board and Election Committee decide on candidates. "We are not disturbed by rebellion and we are a cadre-based party. Who dares to field 70 fresh faces when the elections are near?" he said

On the Lingayat support to BJP, he said, "Only BJP can make a Lingayat the CM. Congress does not have efficient candidates in many constituencies. Congress is waiting for rebel leaders from other parties,"

On BJP ticket aspirant Arun Kumar Puthila contesting as a rebel, Kateel said that anybody can contest elections in a democracy. He also defended BJP giving tickets to family members of elected representatives.

CONGRESS AGAINST DEVELOPMENT OF LINGAYATS, SAYS CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Tuesday said that the Lingayat voters in Karnataka have always taken the right decision and people have not forgotten the Congress' attempts to divide Lingayats and Veerashaivas.

Speaking to reporters in Mudhol in Bagalkot district, Bommai said that the Congress had opposed the reservation for Lingayats, and it had opposed its inclusion in the 2A category in 2009 and rejected it in 2016. The BJP government created a separate category, 2D, and increased the quota for Lingayats, Bommai said and added that the Congress leaders instigated somebody to file a case in the Supreme Court questioning the reservation.

Accusing the Congress of opposing every development of Lingayats, the CM said no one has forgotten the 'Jalebi' file clearance that prevailed in the Siddaramaiah government. "Jalebi files referred to Gowdas, Lingayats, and Brahmins and non-Jalebi files referred to others," he said. The BJP accused the Congress government of clearing non-Jalebi files. The BJP leader said that after 1967, except for Veerendra Patil, no Lingayat from the Congress had become the CM, and even Patil was treated badly by the Congress.

"People know what happened to Lingayat leaders. The leaders who joined Congress will not make any impact on the BJP's prospects and BJP will win more seats than in the 2018 Assembly polls," he said.

Responding to former CM Jagadish Shettar's allegations that the BJP state unit is in the clutches of a few leaders, the CM said that it is not in the clutches of anyone and as a national party it has its systems.

Bommai termed Congress a sinking ship and said the guarantee cards given by it has no value.

BJP's Lingayat base shaky after high-profile exits?

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

IS the BJP failing in its narrative of keeping the Lingayat support intact like it did in 2018? The Lingayat community votes were overwhelmingly cornered by the BJP in that election as the party harped on Congress' "breaking religion (dharma odeyuva)" narrative. But this time, the party looks more vulnerable and may not get the consolidated support of the community, now that former chief minister Jagadish Shettar and former deputy chief minister Laxman Savadi have exited the party.

Akhila Bharatha Veerashaiva Mahasabha Secretary Renuka Prasanna told TNIE, "The community support for BJP that eroded after BS Yediyurappa stepped down in 'pain' will reduce further after Shettar exited, again in pain."

BJP MLC AH Vishwanath alleged, "There is a hidden agenda in RSS to finish off the leadership among Lingayats and Vokkaligas." After Shettar revealed that BJP national general secretary BL Santhosh was behind the denial of ticket to him, a senior BJP leader, who did not want to be named, said, "What Santhosh did was wrong. Mahesh Tenginkai (who has been given the BJP ticket from the Hubballi-Dharwad Central that was represented by Shettar) is a follower of Santhosh. Tenginkai himself was not keen on the ticket. It is obvious that Santhosh wanted to dispose of Shettar.

In all this, Shettar's penance of 40 years in politics, considering that he comes from a family of pucca Jan Sangh-RSS, is lost. Shettar's father was a mayor and his uncle too was in politics. The chief gainer seems to be Santosh, while both Yediyurappa and Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai are at his mercy. They were not allowed to expand the cabinet and they also suffered other restrictions placed by Santhosh. They are helpless in this situation."

In the 2018 polls, Congress won 38% votes, 1.5% more than BJP. In as many as 28 seats, the party won with margins of less than 10,000 votes. Even if there is a small erosion of Lingayat votes, it could be difficult for BJP to win these seats, experts said. Lingayats, with around 17-20% vote share, are a force in nearly 150 constituencies.

Political analyst B S Murthy said, "The way they dealt with Shettar is nothing but manipulation. There will be a backlash."

Suspense ends, MLA Ramdas to remain in BJP

MYSURU: Four-time MLA from Krishnaraja, SA Ramdas, has broken his silence on his next political move after being denied ticket by the BJP. He said that he will remain in the BJP and work for party candidate TS Srivatsa's victory in the May 10 Assembly elections. After the BJP released its third list of candidates, the 64-year-old former minister went incommunicado and had even refused to meet party leaders MP Pratap Simha and MV Ravishankar who visited his house. But on Tuesday he held a meeting with party workers. "I will participate in the nomination-filing process by the party candidate on April 20. Along with party workers, I will also campaign from April 22," Ramadas told reporters at his residence in Chamundipuram here. Ramadas, however, said that he was disappointed after he was denied the ticket. "I would have won if I contested as an independent from the segment. But I want to remain as a model leader for future leaders. Meanwhile, I will launch Yogashekma Nidhi by investing Rs 1 crore for the health of party workers and education of their children," he said. 'BL Santhosh spoiling BJP's prospects'

DESPITE suffering humiliation for months, he remained quiet. The humiliation continued and when he could not tolerate it anymore, he decided to quit the party.

Shettar said he was not allowed to speak even for a few minutes at the state executive meetings of the party in the past three years and was also not consulted while finalising tickets for the Assembly elections. "A ticket is no mere reason for me to quit BJP. But, it is the ill-treatment which forced me to take a decision to quit the party," he added.

Shettar also blamed Santosh for denial of tickets to MLA SA Ramadas for Krishnaraja seat in Mysuru district and G Madhusudan for South Graduates' seat in the past. Things have changed in Bharatiya Janata Party. Now, personality comes first and the party next, he alleged.

"I don't know why the party is giving so much importance to Santosh, who failed to make a mark when he was made in-charge of Kerala, Tamil Nadu, West Bengal, and Telangana elections. He is spoiling the BJP's prospects in Karnataka too by creating a divide in the party," Shettar said.

'He tried very hard to remain in BJP'

"HE literally wept before quitting BJP. He didn't want to leave the party and tried very hard, knocking on all possible doors for a ticket. He waited till Sunday midnight. Next morning, he joined the Congress. He is a soft spoken, amiable man, but a strong decision maker. The Congress in no time turned Shettar's 'insult' into its election strategy and is building a narrative around 'insult to Lingayats' to appease the dominant community," the sources said.

Shettar, a six-time MLA, former CM, leader of opposition in the Assembly, ex-speaker and party president joined the Congress on April 17 after BJP denied him ticket for Hubballi-Dharwad Central seat.

Development is Modi govt's mantra: Nadda

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Hubballi

THE BJP, under the leadership of Prime Minister Narendra Modi, has brought changes in the nation's political culture, which was earlier pariwarvad (dynasty) that has now been converted to Vikasvad (development), said BJP national president Jagat Prakash Nadda, here on Tuesday.

At an interaction session with intellectuals, he said that earlier, Congress divided the nation on the basis of North-South, language, region, caste, creed and religion, but finally Congress itself divided into pieces. In Karnataka, too, the quarrel between leaders has not ended. "Now here is BJP. We respect regional sentiments, but at the same time national aspirations are always taken into consideration. Unity in diversity is not a slogan for the BJP, it is a spirit," he said.

Nadda indirectly defends denial of ticket to Shettar

Asked about indiscipline in the party, citing the resignation of 16 party corporators seeking a ticket to Jagadish Shettar, he indirectly said the denial of ticket to Shettar was the right decision.

He said, "We work in a democratic manner and politics is the decision of the polity. Keeping all these factors in view, there are many turns that have taken place. The strength you have given me shows that whatever the decision we have taken is correct."

Congress 4th list out, Shettar gets ticket

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

THE Congress on Tuesday evening announced its fourth list of candidates to contest the May 10 Karnataka Assembly elections.

The party has picked a novice Mohammed Yousuf Savanuru against Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai in Shiggaon in Haveri district. It was expected that the Congress would field a formidable Panchamasali-Lingayat against Bommai, a Sadara Lingayat. But it chose a Minority as it did in the 2018 Assembly polls.

As expected, former CM Jagadish Shettar, who joined the Congress on Monday, will fight the polls from Hubballi-Dharwad Central segment.

The party has fielded Durugappa S Hulageri from Lingasugur seat reserved for SC category. Hailing from the Bhovi community, a religious head of the community had urged the party that he be given the ticket as Akhanda Srinivasmurthy from Pulakeshinagar filed his papers as an independent.

Former Chikkamagaluru municipal council president HD Thammaiah, a Lingayat, and a former loyalist of former CM BS Yediyurappa, will take on BJP general secretary CT Ravi from Chikkamagaluru.

The sight of Mann, in his traditional outfit, set off a cheery "Balle! Balle!" from the enthusiastic crowd, in their limited Punjabi. "If AAP comes to power, we will first introduce the Delhi-based model schools in Ron. BJP and Congress exchange leaders. Some years ago, some Congress leaders shifted to the BJP. They form the government by winning bypolls. But for us, Karnataka people are our leaders. We are not from any A team or B team. Siddu seeks Varuna ground report, says Somanna will be made scapegoat

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mysuru

CONGRESS Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah, who is contesting from Varuna, held a marathon meeting with booth-level workers to know the pulse of the voters and take feedback on the political scenario in the segment.

He also held meetings with prominent leaders and his old-time associates cutting across caste lines. Siddaramaiah interacted with retired employees, youth and activists and stressed the importance of bringing back Congress to power in Karnataka. Claiming that the BJP will not come to power in the state, Siddaramaiah said that the BJP will not get more than 60 seats. The Badami MLA said BJP neglecting senior leaders like Jagadish Shettar and Laxman Savadi will impact the prospects of the saffron party. He charged that veteran BJP leaders without any serious charges are denied tickets by BJP national general secretary (organisation) BL Santhosh. He also said that BJP MLA from Krishnaraja SA Ramdas, who was denied a ticket this time, is also welcome to join the Congress if he believes in the party's ideology.

Siddaramaiah said that Housing Minister V Somanna was forced to contest from Varuna by Santosh and he will be made a scapegoat. He said that Somanna was an outsider in Varuna segment.

K'taka govt to SC: Won't use new quota till April 25

Muslims moved to 10% EWS pool, freeing up 4% reservation

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ NewDelhi

THE Karnataka government on Tuesday assured the Supreme Court that till April 25, it will not make any appointments or admissions on the basis of its March 27 order that scrapped the 4% reservation for Muslims under the OBC quota and distributed it among the dominant Vokkaliga and Lingayat communities.

Muslims, who were in category 2B, were moved to the 10% Economically Weaker Sections (EWS) quota pool, freeing up the 4% quota that was distributed at 2% each to Vokkaligas and Lingayats.

Solicitor General Tushar Mehta told the bench of Justices KM Joseph and BV Nagarathna that the state government's response to the pleas filed by the Muslim organisation, Anjuman E Islam, and Ghulam Rasool, challenging the government order, has not been finalised yet. "We could not finalise the reply as we are before the Constitution bench. Please consider having it next Tuesday. My statement will continue. Since the constitution bench is starting (on pleas seeking legal recognition of same sex marriage), it wold be difficult to prepare the reply."

Noting his submission, the bench in its order said, "On the request made, the case will stand over to next Tuesday. The statement given on previous hearing to continue till next date."

Amid indications that the Supreme Court could stay the order, the state government had bought time on April 13, assuring the court that it would not make any appointments or admissions as per the GO till April 18, 2023. The state government had also faced the court's wrath for scrapping the reservation.

The bench said it was "prima facie" of the opinion that the state government's decision of scrapping 4 per cent reservation for Muslims under the OBC quota was "based on completely fallacious assumption". Justice Joseph said the order appeared to suggest that the foundation of decision-making was "highly shaky" and "flawed". He also said the GO was in the teeth of the Justice Chinnappa Reddy commission's report.

Questioning the state's urgency in scrapping the reservation ahead of the Assembly elections, Justice Nagarathna said, "Where there was reservation for a particular group of backward classes it is totally knocked out and it becomes 0. And the percentage of reservation for those who already had the reservation has already gone up. Can there be a class of person who by way of an interim order at a stroke be denied? Because it was on an interim report, the government could have waited for a final report. What is the urgency?"

The pleas had sought for quashing the GO and reclassifying of the reservation categories and inclusion of Muslims under EWS reservation.

A senior revenue official said that the ministry is checking details of the caller and his location in Sudan. "We have asked people to inform us if any of their relatives or people they know are stranded in the war-torn regions of Sudan," he added.

At the moment it can only be assumed that the tribals could have gone to Sudan for work. "Officials would soon visit Hakki-Pikki colonies in the state to collect details about those stranded in Sudan and other countries," sources said.

As soon as the news spread, former chief minister Siddaramaiah tweeted: "I urge PMO, HMO and MEA and Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai to immediately intervene and ensure their safe return."

He appealed to the Union Government to immediately reach out to the stranded tribals through diplomatic channels and other international agencies.

Randeep Singh Surjewala, AICC general secretary in-charge of Karnataka, tweeted: "31 Kannadigas of Hakki-Pikki tribe have been stranded in Sudan. Differences pop up between BRS MLAs and cadres

IREDDY SRINIVAS REDDY @ Hyderabad

THE ongoing Athmeeya Sammelanams organised by the ruling Bharat Rashtra Samiti (BRS) is causing tension in the pink party in several Assembly constituencies due to differences between sitting MLAs and the cadre. In-charges appointed by party supremo and Chief Minister K Chandrasekhar Rao are compiling a report based on feedback from the Sammelanams.

BRS sources say that second-level leaders are upset with the MLAs with whom they are dissatisfied and have not received financial support. This situation has the potential to cause trouble for the party in almost 40 Assembly segments in Khammam, Karimnagar, Mahabubnagar, Adilabad, and Warangal districts, sources say.

The party in-charges are collecting opinions and are expected to give a report to KCR in the first week of May. The party is concerned about the gap between MLAs and local leaders and is expected to take steps to bridge it.

Many second-rung leaders are dissatisfied with the MLAs who previously worked in the Congress and the TDP. The party is concerned that if this rift continues, it may face a major setback in the upcoming Assembly polls at the end of the year.

MLAs who joined from other parties after the results in the last Assembly elections are facing difficulties due to group politics at the peak level in the Assembly segments. This has caused a revolt in the constituencies and is a big challenge for the ruling party in the coming days.

Kerala's first Vande Bharat to run till Kasaragod

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @T'Puram

KERALA'S first Vande Bharat Express will run till Kasaragod, instead of culminating at Kannur as announced earlier, Union Railways Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw said in Delhi on Tuesday.

"The decision was taken after getting recommendations from various quarters," Vaishnaw said during the press meet which was attended by Union Minister of State V Muraleedharan. Prime Minister Narendra Modi will flag off the train from Thiruvananthapuram on April 25.

The minister's announcement came a day after the trial run of the train, in which it covered the 488-km-long distance between Thiruvananthapuram and Kannur in 7 hours and 10 minutes.

Vaishnaw said the railways is finalising the stops and schedule of the Vande Bharat Express. He said though additional stops are being demanded, too many halts will make Vande Bharat run like a passenger train.

Vaishnaw also said another Vande Bharat Express from Kasaragod to Thiruvananthapuram will become a reality in the coming months.

STAKEHOLDERS GO FOR THE JUGULAR AS K'TAKA POLL GEARS CHANGE

Call it a calculated risk or sheer gamble against anti-incumbency, with BJP giving tickets to 72 new faces to contest by denying the tried-and-tested warhorses of the party, rebellion is brewing among its ranks in Karnataka. It appears to have put the party in a spot ahead of the May 10 polls.

The latest tectonic shift involving former chief minister Jagadish Shettar quitting BJP and joining Congress over being denied a ticket to contest from his constituency Hubballi-Dharwad Central has boosted the Grand Old Party's confidence. Shettar is now armed with a Congress ticket for the same constituency. The party hopes to cash in on the "Lingayat wave" to boost its seat tally following Lingayat leader Shettar's move into the party fold. The party is hoping to see the Lingayats (constituting 20% of the state's population) turning against the BJP and gravitating towards the Congress. They are looking at benefits not just in Hubballi-Dharwad Central constituency but in at least 20–25 adjoining ones. The Congress hopes to bag 140-plus seats in the House of 224.

However, the BJP leaders are expressing confidence in winning 130–140 seats despite the latest developments, which saw six seasoned BJP leaders quitting the party within a week. This included former deputy chief minister Laxman Savadi (also a Lingayat leader) and Shettar. Savadi joined the Congress earlier and was given a ticket to contest from Athani, which the BJP had denied him. Bringing in new faces was BJP's successful experiment in Gujarat in its December 2022 polls. The gamble worked there but did not appear to do so here. Senior BJP leaders had not expected a rebellion of this scale.

JD(S), regarding candidate selection and outreach, is doing better than Congress and BJP. It is fairly successful in overcoming the family- and sub-region-centric party tag. It has gone beyond its family to field a party worker in its bastion, Hassan, and is trying to make gains beyond the Old Mysuru region.

Senior BJP central leaders are in Karnataka to stop rebels from quitting the party and convince them about the importance of new faces to contest. It remains to be seen whether voters in constituencies whose leaders have quit the party to contest independently or from another party will vote for the leader or the ideology. The BJP is hoping for the latter and the 'Modi Magic' to swing it their way when Prime Minister Narendra Modi begins his rallies in the state.

ANDHRA HEATS UP AS YSRC, TDP TEST THEIR REACH

Looking at the rising political heat in Andhra Pradesh, one might mistakenly think that the state is headed for elections. The opposition TDP has already given a clarion call to its cadre to be ready for the battle of the ballot any time while the ruling YSRC has embarked on what is touted to be the largest public outreach exercise in the country—to not only galvanise its members but also interact with each and every household in the state. Assembly elections are due next year, but there is clearly a sense of urgency on both sides.

What seems to have compelled them to go head to head on the ground are recent political developments such as the TDP victory in the graduate MLC elections and the ruling party's increasing troubles. The latter had had to deal with a few dissidents and unnecessarily overplayed its hand, losing a few MLC polls that it shouldn't have gotten into in the first place. In hindsight, it was a strategic mistake. On top of it, the CBI probe into YSR's brother Y S Vivekananda Reddy's murder case is casting a shadow on the Jagan Mohan Reddy government. It is up to the court to decide the case, but its political implications cannot be brushed aside. Though Chief Minister Jagan is in no way connected to it, the opposition has accused him of having a direct hand behind the death of the former MP and is taking forward its narrative of 'demonic rule' to the people. In short, the TDP smells blood and is going for the kill. The YSRC's latest programme, Jagannanne Maa Bhavishyathu (Jagan is our future), reached 78 lakh households in the last 11 days. The objective is to check directly with voters if welfare schemes are reaching their doorstep.

There is a critical difference between the approaches of both parties. The YSRC is focused on its welfare agenda. The TDP, on the other hand, is bombarding the ruling party with its artillery of allegations and underscoring the lack of tangible development. TDP chief N Chandrababu Naidu is on whirlwind tours these days, even as his son continues his padayatra. Watching from the sidelines is the BJP, a fringe party with undue influence on all the others, thanks to its government at the Centre. Its strategy is to weaken the YSRC and TDP and it may finally decide the outcome of the 2024 polls.

QUICK TAKE

SKILLED LABOUR DEMAND ABROAD

Japan is importing youth trained in farming concepts from India with adequate Japanese knowledge under a bilateral agreement. Tenth or 12th passed, they get decent salaries, overtime, insurance, boarding with wifi and renewable contracts. Japan, with a fast-ageing population, is looking for young, Specified Skilled Workers in 14 sectors, including nursing, industrial machinery, shipbuilding, aviation, and food services. Many more countries need them too. The National Skill Development Corporation is looking at an opportunity to train and export skilled youth labour. That can tackle joblessness and the mismatch between the skills and needs of global job providers and discourage illegal immigration.

All previous governments have contributed to the progress of the nation. BJP leaders, while being inspired by petty politics, don't give due credit to former governments

MODI CANNOT SAY NO PROGRESS MADE IN CONGRESS RULE

BHUPESH BAGHEL

Chief Minister of Chhattisgarh

In a democratic system, it is common practice for political parties to hurl accusations at the opposition. But if the prime minister of a nation makes a statement, then it becomes quite natural to expect factual accuracy and seriousness in it. It is unfortunate that our honourable prime minister, motivated by trivial politics, makes statements that are far from the truth. The prime minister and other senior BJP leaders say that there has been no development in the last 70 years and no achievement whatsoever. This accusation is non-factual. It's been 76 years since our nation achieved Independence. In these 76 years, Congress has had only 55 years of governance, while the tenure of BJP and the parties operating through BJP's support has been of approximately 19 years.

Out of 21 years, the tenure of the BJP and other parties has been of 19 years. The honourable prime minister, being in his state of vanity, has also started considering the tenures of the venerable Atal Bihari Vajpayee as devoid of achievements.

Till the start of the 18th century, India's GDP was the highest among all nations. The nation had approximately a one-fourth share in the total GDP of the world. Over time, the British rule of 200 years emptied the country's economy. The commercialisation of Indian agriculture was done to provide raw materials to the British industries, becoming the cause for ruin of the farmers. It was as a result of British colonial activities that India was one of the world's poorest countries at the time of Independence. There was a huge crisis of food grains in India and we were dependent on other nations for feeding our population of 34 crore. About 80% of the country's public was below the poverty line and 90% of people were illiterate. Industrial production and energy production were nominal.

SOUMYADIP SINHA

Due to the lack of resources, reconstructing the nation was quite challenging. As overcoming the food crisis was a matter that needed to be given the highest priority, the greatest emphasis was laid on the development of agriculture in the First Five Year Plan (1951–1956). During the Second Five Year Plan (1956–1961), heavy and basic industries were established. In these ten years, dams like Bhakra Nangal and Hirakud were constructed. The foundations of steel plants in Bhilai, Durgapur, Rourkela and Bokaro were laid. Works related to education and scientific research along with agriculture and industrial development were also conducted. Famous and dignified institutes like IIT (1950), AIIMS (1956) and IIM (1961) were established. BARC was established for the development of nuclear power. Similarly, ISRO for the development of space science and DRDO for the development of defence research were also established. With the "Green Revolution" in the Sixties, the path of self-reliance in food grain production was paved. To encourage milk production in India, a program called "Operation Flood" was started. In 1975, India's first space satellite was successfully launched. After the successful nuclear testing in Pokhran in 1998, India became the sixth nation to join the nuclear club.

During the tenure of Rajiv Gandhi, the digital revolution started. The use of computers and the establishment of PCOs in villages heralded the "Communication Revolution".

It is noteworthy that the BJP strongly opposed the production of computers and their use in the country stating that it would lead to unemployment. Today, while Modi wants to take credit for the "Digital Revolution", the truth remains unchanged. Rajiv Gandhi conducted many historical works such as giving constitutional status to local government bodies, conferring voting rights at 18 years of age, and one-third reservation for women.

Historical schemes and works like MGNREGA, Aadhar Card, mobile and internet, debt remission for farmers, Right to Information, Right to Education, forest rights, Patta distribution, Midday meal program, Rural Health Mission, rural electrification, food security law, successful launching of the Agni missile, eight crore new gas connections, housing for two crore poor people, seven new AIIMS hospitals, 31 crore new bank accounts, bonus on agricultural produce, farmer insurance, hoisting the Tricolor on the moon, 30 lakh km village roads, 80,000 km of new highways, and launching metros in 10 cities—were all conducted during Dr Manmohan Singh's tenure and before Modi became the PM.

The comparative statistics of the years 1947 and 2014 under various socio-economic indices can be understood through the following analysis: The total population of India in 1947 was 34 crore, which grew to 127 crore in 2014. The literacy rate was 12% earlier, and 80% in 2014. The average life span increased from 34 years to 68 years. The number of colleges and universities increased from 496 and 20 to 34,452 and 740 respectively. The number of engineering colleges and medical colleges rose from 36 and 19 to 3,345 and 387 respectively. The annual income per person increased from ₹274 to ₹72,805. There was a significant rise in GDP, from 2.7 lakh crore in 1947 to 130 lakh crore in 2014. In 1947, 80% of the population was Below Poverty Line, which decreased to 21.6% in 2014. The production of agricultural produce, electricity, cement and steel has grown from five crore to 26 crore tonnes, 1,362 MW to 2.37 lakh MW, 21.5 MT to 280 MT, and 1 to 87.67 MT respectively.

Aforementioned analysis proves that there has been holistic progress in the nation in all fields from 1947 to 2014. The hard work of citizens deserves credit for this. All previous governments have contributed to the progress of the nation. Even though the BJP leaders, while being inspired by petty politics, don't give due credit to former governments for the said achievements, the PM cannot be conferred with the right to say that the nation's history in the last 70 years has been devoid of achievements. It would be appropriate for Modi to promote the achievements of his tenure and stop the criticism of the tenure of previous governments.

The BJP leaders, under a devious strategy, are committed to false propaganda, so that by lying to the public again and again, people start believing that there has been no progress in the last 76 years and the only credit for the achievements of the nation today goes to Mr Modi. This lie told by the BJP is extremely reprehensible.

TALENT TOUGHER TO BUILD THAN FACTORIES

R GOPALAKRISHNAN

Author and business commentator. His fifty-year professional career was in HUL and Tata

BUILDING BUSINESSES

Talent building is a 'long game'. But how long and how difficult is it? Efficient factories are daunting to build. First, is land assessment, acquisition, and preparation. Second, is technology selection, equipment purchase, layout, and installation. The third and toughest part is manpower planning, employee recruitment, and most important, skilling, training, and motivation to deliver. Fourth comes the grand concertino of assembling parts of the jigsaw before commissioning the factory. Final, is operation of the new plant on an optimum basis for efficiency and effectiveness. All this can take a decade—maybe more.

An experienced manufacturing/project manager will confirm that the first two of the above five steps follow the logic or science of engineering. But the last three concern people and follow the art of human engineering: how to recruit, train, and continuously motivate people for quality and productivity improvements.

To build and sustain a company management cadre from top leadership downwards is difficult and time consuming. The talent process follows the rather imprecise art of judging how to develop human beings—from recruitment to evaluation, from creating talent density to achieving talent portability, defining what a manager's responsibility is to hold the manager accountable, and finally, to advance the best talent out of a well-honed bench strength. These processes do not bear a direct cause and effect connection, unlike action and reaction in physics. Rather the response occurs to a series of initiations over a period with the law of unintended consequences operating.

The closest, though imperfect, parallel to leadership development in a company, is parenting in a family. As we all know, parenting continues all the way from infancy onwards. The parent is 24 X 7 at the job, mentally and psychologically. There is no intermission or remission. Indeed, a parent's involvement with the progeny never ceases. Rightly or wrongly, even when the progeny reaches adulthood, the parent's care and concern for their well-being continues.

In my experience, the two toughest jobs in the world are perhaps excellence in parenting and building leadership talent for the long-term. Just like parenting cannot and should not be left to just one parent or to grandparents, talent development cannot and must not be left exclusively to either HR or to the CEO. Talent development is a core part of the responsibilities of any manager. The distinguishing mark of a fine company is the glorious jugalbandi (duet) of the operating management and HR.

A rigorous discipline of planning and pursuit of talent excellence is weak or even absent in Indian companies. Quite often, there exists no defined process. Where there is a semblance of process, it tends to be personality-driven rather than process-driven. It is worthwhile for corporates to work on this potential weak spot.

> The closest, though imperfect, parallel to leadership development in a company, is parenting in a family. ... The parent is 24 X 7 at the job, mentally and psychologically

Benchmarking processes against the best-in-class is a good way forward, just as management would do for total quality or productivity. Too often, the chief executive officer leaves this complex task to Personnel/HR, and deploys personal energies on other equally important corporate issues. The metaphor of comparing talent management and parenting imaginatively highlights why excellence in talent management is among the toughest of corporate jobs.

Both require a rigorous and sustained process discipline, soaked in a warm soup of empathy and emotion.

A few years ago, some faculty members of Bhavan's SPJIMR and I conducted research on Shapers of Business Institutions. Six companies participated in the research: L&T, HDFC, Kotak, Marico, TCS, and Biocon. One question asked to the chief executive officers and leaders was about how much of their time went into "reflecting, thinking, and planning of management talent". The answers that we got ranged from 25 to 40%. Those numbers are astonishingly high, but the answers offered a clue about how much top leaders value their own contribution to developing other leaders. An individual becomes a top leader with a principal responsibility being to develop other leaders for the organisation.

I experienced how talent management was nurtured at Hindustan Unilever, and tangentially witnessed this aspect in companies like Tata Consultancy, Tata Steel, and Titan. I am certainly impressed by the care and time leaders and HR bestow on nurturing and coaching talent within these companies. One measure of the success and capability is that, over several decades and successions, such companies can present more than one internal candidate to take over a vacancy without hesitation and without pause.

In both parenting and leadership development, there is a need for a rigorous process which has been fermented in sensitivity and compassion. The processes must be as thorough as business and financial budgeting—with tight timelines, milestone markers, evaluations, discussions, challenges, innovation and calculated risk taking.

Execution is undoubtedly demanding. Just as the CFO is the custodian of financial budgeting, the CHRO should be the safekeeper of the talent planning process. Talent planning and review should form an integral part of the business planning process.

Too often in companies, these are two disconnected processes. Talent development demands intuitive considerations—the human element—to a much greater magnitude than working on budgets with numbers and figures. The cauldron is far more complex.

India is blessed to possess great leadership talent, but organisations must figure out how to cultivate and curate that talent.

Pawar's power

Political morality or party ideology is no big deal for Ajit Pawar when it comes to position and authority. What is more disgusting is his inability to sense the "divide and rule strategy" of the BJP whose game plan, by luring him with power, is to split NCP as in the case of Shiv Sena, and also to weaken MVA.

Apropos of Ajit gets signatures of 40 ready to bolt (Apr 18). There is a fresh scramble of musical chairs in Mumbai, with Fadnavis willing to divorce Shinde and have a marriage of convenience with Ajit Pawar. It shows MVA harboured only power-hungry parties who jump the fence at the first opportunity to grab power. Sharad Pawar will be incommunicado now and may give an ambiguous opinion after a new government assumes office, with his nephew at the helm.

With regards to same-sex marriage, Indian laws must conform to Indian ethos. After Cong, Athawale roots for caste census

Social justice minister says he will speak with the Prime Minister

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

AMID the growing chorus for a nationwide caste census by Congress and other Opposition parties, Union Minister of State for Social Justice and Empowerment Ramdas Athawale on Tuesday said his party has long been demanding a caste-based census, and the government has to decide on it.

Speaking exclusively to this newspaper, Athawale, leader of the Republican Party of India (RPI) which is an NDA ally, said he has raised the demand several times in Parliament and NDA meetings without any result.

"My party's stand has always been that a caste-based survey should be done to estimate the exact population of each category of the backward community. Once the survey is done, policy decisions and government programmes can be formulated in proportion to the population. This will help to ascertain caste–based marginalisation and deprivation," he said.

My party's stand has always been that a caste-based survey should be done to estimate the exact population of each category of the backward community

Ramdas Athawale, Union Minister of State for Social Justice and Empowerment

The Union Minister's assertion comes against the backdrop of several political parties including Congress, DMK, JDU, RJD, and AAP has intensified their demand for a caste census as they say that the current reservation policies are based on the 1931 census, which estimated OBC population at 52 per cent in the country.

In 2018, the then Union Home Minister Rajnath Singh promised a caste-based survey to identify OBCs and SEBCs. However, the Union Government has now taken a U-turn from its earlier position and has categorically stated in Parliament and Supreme Court that it won't undertake a caste-based survey as a policy matter. "If the government has given the promise to undertake a caste census, then it should take a decision," said Athawale. When asked if he would exert pressure on the government to fulfill the promise, he said, "I will take it up with the government, and will talk to PM Modi."

He also said there is a feeling in the government that a caste census will breed casteism. "There is a fear that the census will lead to casteism. We can't wish away caste though, in 1948 negative discrimination based on caste was banned by law. It was further enshrined in the Constitution in 1950. But still lots of atrocities are happening in the name of caste," he said.

'BJP not opposed, but for scientific method'

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

THE BJP's OBC Morcha on Tuesday said the party is not opposed to the caste census, but asserted a wider scientific study before the census.

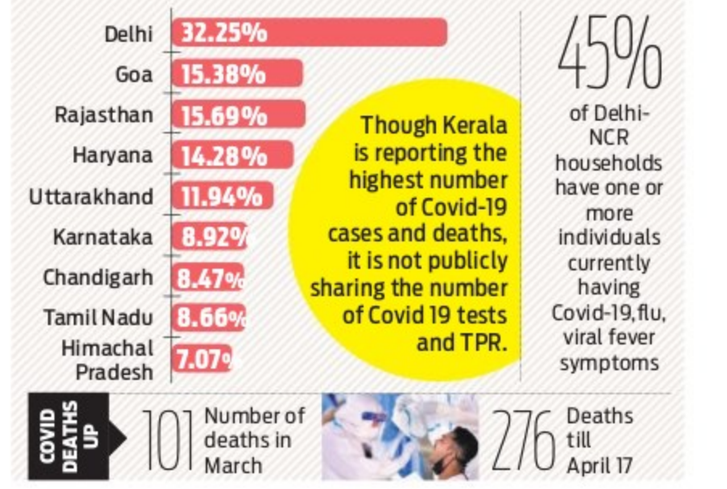
Speaking to this newspaper, national president of BJP OBC Morcha K Laxman said, "Let it be clear to all first that we (the BJP) are not opposed to the caste census. But what requires before it is a wider scientific study on the caste configurations and OBCs."

The exercises was conducted earlier but that yielded no results and a huge money government went in waste, he added.

Accusing Congress leaders Rahul Gandhi and Mallikarjun Kharge of playing the 'politics of survival' with the issues like that of caste census, Laxman asked: "Why did not the Congress make the data of 2011 caste census public even thought it continued in power for the longest time? Rahul Gandhi is resorting to a 'utilitarian politics of survival' with the people of OBCs. Gandhi will have to answer the OBCs as why his party did not make the caste census data public."

Calling the Congress an anti-OBCs party, he said: "It humiliates the OBCs more often than not in politics and recently it was proved whenthe court convicted Rahul Gandhi on the charge of humiliating OBC in the Modi surname."

He said for the first time, 27 ministers in the central cabinet are from OBC community.



Covid cases up, positivity highest since Feb last year

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

INDIA is showing a surge in Covid-19 cases, with the test positivity rate (TPR) -- a vital marker in assessing the spread of an outbreak -- touching 8.40% on April 16.

It is the highest TPR, which indicates the percentage of people who are found to be infected by the virus from those who are being tested, since February 3, 2022, when the third wave driven by Omicron saw a surge in India.

Apart from Delhi, the other states that reported high TPR on April 17 are Goa (15.38%), Rajasthan (15.69%), Haryana (14.28%), Uttarakhand (11.94%), Karnataka (8.92%), Chandigarh (8.47%) Tamil Nadu (8.66 %) and Himachal Pradesh (7.07%).

Though Kerala is reporting the highest number of Covid-19 cases and deaths, it is not publicly sharing the number of Covid-19 tests and TPR.

Sachin Taparia, Founder of LocalCircles, said: "In most cases, people are showing up at their workplaces or schools/colleges and using public transport despite having symptoms, spreading the infection, which wasn't the case during the first three waves," Taparia said.

TPR indicates how much spread is happening in the community. Earlier, testing was systematic; now it is symptom-based

Rajeev Jayadevan, co-chairman, IMA

According to Dr Rajeev Jayadevan, co-chairman of the National Indian Medical Association (IMA) Covid-19 task force, TPR indicates how much spread is happening in the community.

Citing an example, he said in some hospitals in Kerala, which is systematic in conducting Covid-19 tests, in early March, no positive cases were reported, but in mid-March, it went up to 10%. However, by April, the number spiked to 40-42%.

"Earlier, testing was systematic; now it is symptom-based. People are not taking Covid-19 tests as they consider it a waste of time and money and recovering at home, assuming they have Covid-19. This leads to gross underestimation of the amount of infection in the community," Dr Jayadevan told this paper.

Trade imbalance with Russia needs to be addressed: Jaishankar

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

THE bilateral trade between India and Russia is growing strong, but there is need to work on the trade imbalance, External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar said on Tuesday.

"We have crossed the bilateral trade target of $30 billion that we had set for 2025. In fact, from April 2022 to February 2023, the trade between India and Russia was about $45 billion and this is likely to grow. However, there is an understandable trade imbalance which these new volumes have created. We need to work with our Russian friends to address this imbalance," Dr Jaishankar said during his interaction with visiting Russian Deputy PM and Trade and Industry Minister, Denis Manturov.

Addressing that imbalance means addressing the impediments like market access issues, tariff barriers, payment-related issue, logistics etc.

"I am convinced that it is possible to really find solutions, because if you look even in the last year, and this is something which the deputy PM himself is personally involved, we found ways, for example, of looking at, the fertiliser trade, in a much more mutually acceptable way. So, I think if we can look at an area like fertilizer, surely you know, the same spirit of cooperation and mutuality, we can look at other areas and look to find solutions," Jaishankar said.

Jaishankar and Deputy PM Manturov co-chaired the 24th session of the India-Russia Inter-governmental Commission on Trade, Economic, Scientific, Technologicial and Cultural Co-operation (IRIGC-TEC).

Strong growth in bilateral trade

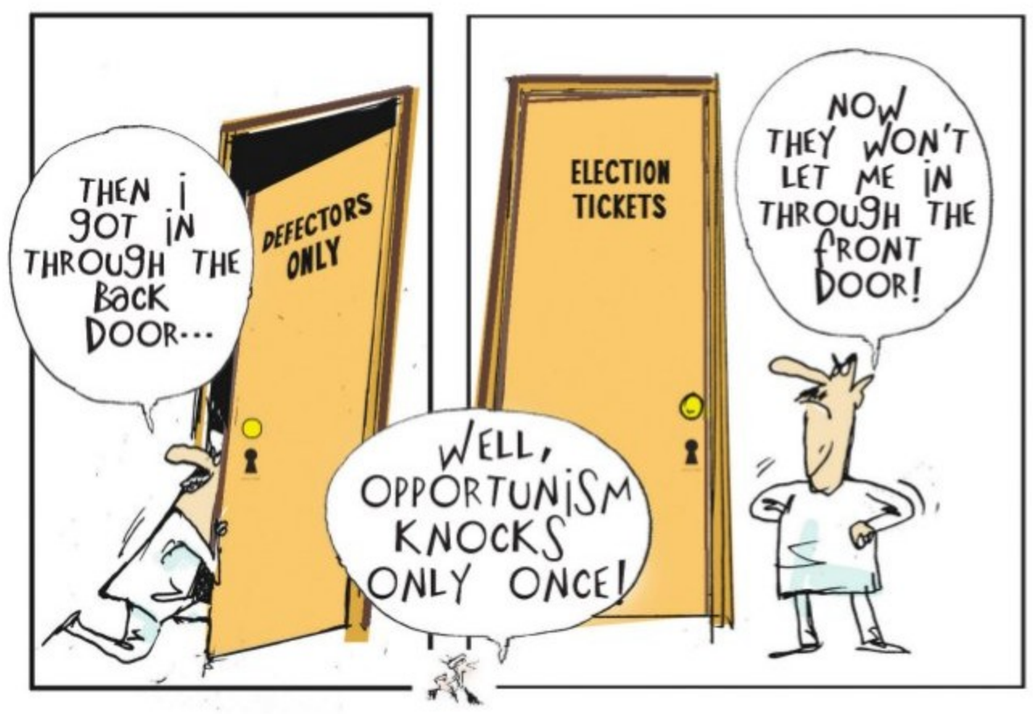
India-Russia trade has crossed the bilateral trade target of $30 billion thatwas set for 2025. From April 2022 to February 2023, the trade between India and Russia was about $45 billion and this is likely to grow

"According to the last year results, the trade turnover increased 2.6 times and we have surpassed our own trade target," Manturov said.

India and Russia are Special and Privileged Strategic Partners. During the last decade there has been increased cooperation in energy, science, technology and inter-regional cooperation.

Meanwhile, exports from India traditionally have been pharmaceuticals and organic chemical and at present there are possibilities of auto spares, electronic goods, medical devices, textiles, leather, agricultural products. India, Russia are also in advanced negotiations on a new Bilateral Investment Treaty (BIT).

BODYLINE



21 states following minimum age of 6 yrs for Class I admission

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

TWENTY-ONE states have started admitting students at the age of six years in Class I, as directed by the Centre. Southern states such as Kerala, Andhra Pradesh, Telangana and Tamil Nadu are yet to comply with this decision despite repeated reminders, official sources said.

Karnataka and Haryana have confirmed that they will follow the age criteria from next academic year, sources said.

Though Department of School Education and Literacy, under the Education Ministry, has directed all states and Union territories (UT) "to align their age to admission with the National Education Policy (NEP) 2020 and provide admission to Grade-I at the age of 6+ years," many are yet to follow the guidelines.

Delhi, Goa, Himachal Pradesh, Jammu and Kashmir, Madhya Pradesh, Rajasthan, Puducherry, Uttar Pradesh and Uttarakhand are the other states that are yet to follow the Centre's directions, government sources said.

States and UTs that are following the Centre's directions are Andaman and Nicobar Islands, Arunachal Pradesh, Assam, Bihar, Chandigarh, Chhattisgarh, Dadra and Nagar Haveli and Daman and Diu, Gujarat, Jharkhand, Ladakh, Lakshadweep, Maharashtra, Manipur, Meghalaya, Mizoram, Nagaland, Odisha, Punjab, Sikkim, Tripura and West Bengal.

The Central government's directions align with the National Education Policy (NEP) 2020, which recommends strengthening children's learning at the 'foundational stage'. The NEP is likely to come into effect from the next academic year

The foundational stage consists of five years of learning opportunities for all children (between three to eight years) which includes three years of preschool education and two years of early primary Grade-I and Grade II.

In its letter on February 9, the Union Education Ministry "reiterated" and directed all states and UTs to "align" their age for admission to Class I at six years in line with the NEP 2020.

The reminder from the ministry came after many states continued with the old practice of admitting students as early as five years. The Ministry had issued a reminder in 2021 and 2022 also.

Kendriya Vidyalaya schools, which come under the Central government, have already changed their policy and made the minimum age six instead of five years.

IITs SHOULD HAVE ZERO TOLERANCE FOR DISCRIMINATION: EDUCATION MINISTER

The Ministry of Education wants the IITs to prepare a long-term vision for Atmanirbhar Bharat for Amritkal, even as the premier institution's Council, which met after two years, discussed pressing issues like students' mental health and giving more exit options. The Council met in Bhubaneswar, which was its first physical interaction since the Covid outbreak. Union Education Minister Dharmendra Pradhan told the Council that it should prepare a short-term strategy for the country's immediate needs. In the wake of a spate of suicide cases, the director of IIT Gandhinagar presented the underlying societal, psychological and other health issues behind depression among students, said a statement released after the meeting.

India capitalises on opportunities in fast-changing global economic order

RAKESH MOHAN JOSHI
Director, Indian Institute of Plantation Management, Bengaluru, Professor, IIFT, New Delhi

THE recent visit of Indian Commerce Minister Goyal to France and Italy becomes highly significant to capitalise upon emerging opportunities in the rapidly changing global economic order.

In recent years, India has emerged as the preferred trade and investment destination for EU firms, given its rapid economic and technological rise in turbulent times when most countries still struggle to overcome their economic woes.

Indeed, Indian negotiators deserve compliments for their unrelenting efforts to take forward the stalled negotiations after a gap of eight years amid the multiplicity of complexities and divergent geo-political interests of participating in 27 sovereign countries as a single entity, the European Union. To illustrate, an FTA can technically be approved by the European Parliament, but the investment protection agreements must be ratified by the EU parliament and the parliaments of each member country.

To facilitate an expeditious conclusion of the deal, parallel but separate negotiations on contentious and complex issues, such as investment protection and geographical indications, are being carried out. Moreover, India-EU FTA is likely to be much more comprehensive compared to earlier trade deals recently signed by India with Australia and UAE, aiming to liberalise 94% of the trade in goods. It is also expected to have a separate chapter linking trade with sustainable development.

Push for Free Trade Agreement with EU

The EU is India's third-largest trade partner, whereas India is the EU's tenth-largest trade partner. In the last decade, India's merchandised trade grew by 30%. India's top exports destination in the EU includes the Netherlands, Belgium, Germany, Italy, France, Spain, and Poland

The fourth round of India-EU trade negotiations occurred on March 23 in Brussels. The fifth phase is scheduled to resume in mid-June with an ambitious timeline to conclude the negotiations by 2023.

India-EU Trade Dynamics

The EU is India's third-largest trade partner, whereas India is the EU's tenth-largest trade partner. In the last decade, India's merchandised trade grew by 30%. During recent years, India's trade with European Union has witnessed spectacular growth as its exports grew from $ 41 billion in 2020-21 to $ 67 billion during April- February 2022-23. In contrast, imports rose from $ 40 billion to $ 54 billion during the same period. Interestingly, India had a trade deficit with the EU in 2018-19 that turned into a trade surplus of $ 13 billion during April- February 2022-23. India had a considerable positive trade balance with the Netherlands ($ 13 billion), Spain ($1.5 billion), and France ($ 1.5 billion). In contrast, it has a significant trade deficit with Germany ($5 billion) and Ireland ($2.5 billion) during April – February 2022-23.

India's top exports destination in the EU includes the Netherlands, Belgium, Germany, Italy, France, Spain, and Poland, whereas its top import-sourcing countries include Germany, Belgium, France, Italy, Netherlands, Spain, and Sweden.

India's major export products to the EU are petroleum products, telecom instruments, iron and steel, precious and semi-precious stones, electric machinery, ready-made garments and textiles, pharmaceuticals, aluminium products, and organic chemicals, whereas its main imports from the EU include pearl, precious and semi-precious stones, industrial machinery for dairy, aircraft and spacecraft accessories, electronic components, electric machinery and equipment, medical and scientific instruments, residual chemicals and telecom instruments.

A Win-Win Trade Deal

Amid post-covid supply chain disruptions, armed conflict between Ukraine-Russia and trade tensions between the US-China and Australia-China, India has become a strategically significant partner to the EU, much beyond trade and investment. Moreover, consequent to the exit of the United Kingdom from the group, popularly known as Brexit, the EU is keen to find new trade partners for which India becomes a natural economic ally.

Moreover, India's spectacularly neutral stand in the rapidly emerging multi-polar world significantly transformed its strategic position to play a crucial role in world trade and diplomacy.

The India-EU FTA provides an a huge opportunity for EU firms to penetrate the world's fastest-growing major economy, home to 1.4 billion people compared to 447 million people in the EU. Given India's recent policy resolve to 'Make-in-India', collaboration in technology-intensive manufacturing and defence production has fast emerged as a key area of mutual synergy and immense investment opportunities.

Technological complementarities between the EU and India offer opportunities to collaborate in a range of high-tech goods, including machinery, pharmaceutical and IT research, as India seeks to achieve self-reliance and the businesses in the EU are in search of an alternative manufacturing location to China.

The India-EU Free Trade Agreement TA is likely to pave the way for enormous opportunities in trade and investment and forging strategic international partnerships at the world fora, making it a win-win deal.

NAXAL HELD

Mukul Roy goes 'missing' in Kolkata, only to land in Delhi

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

TMC leader Mukul Roy was traced in Delhi hours after his son Subhrangshu sounded alert on Monday night claiming his father was "untraceable." Subhrangshu lodged two missing complaints with the Airport police station and Bijpur police station in North 24 Parganas district on Monday night.

Roy, who defected from the BJP to the TMC in June, 2021, said he reached the national capital for some personal work. He claimed he has no specific agenda. Roy left Kolkata on an Indigo flight (GE-898) on Monday evening and arrived in Delhi the same night.

Roy's sudden Delhi visit resulted in murmurs in Bengal's political circle whether the veteran politician will join any other party. BJP leader Anupam Hazra posted on his social media profile writing "return''. When asked whether his comment had any link with Roy's Delhi visit, Hazra said, "Wait for a day, everything will be cleared.''

Roy, who was elected as an MLA from Krishnanagar (north) constituency in 2021 on a BJP ticket, has been suffering from ailments after the death of his wife. He was hospitalised in February. Asked whether he came to Delhi for health reasons, Roy, who landed in Delhi around 9.45 pm on Monday, said, "I have come here for my personal reason. I have no special reason to visit Delhi. I have arrived here late.''

Though Roy's Delhi visit was scheduled but his family was not apparently aware of it. Subhrangshu rushed to the Kolkata airport on Monday evening and requested the police to bring his father back from the flight. But by then, the flight took off.

Subharangshu said his father had no money to buy a ticket of a private airline to go to Delhi. "One person met my father and gave him money. My father is suffering from an illness. His memory is not working properly. He still believes that he is in the year 2011. There is no scope to discuss political issues with him because of his illness,'' he said.

Manipur: Two disgruntled BJP MLAs meet top party leaders

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Guwahati

AS dissidence is brewing against Manipur Chief Minister N Biren Singh, two disgruntled BJP MLAs – Thokchom Radheshyam Singh and Karam Shyam – met the party's state in-charge Sambit Patra in New Delhi on Tuesday.

Party sources did not disclose what transpired at the meeting. Radheshyam and Shyam did not respond to phone calls. Some BJP MLAs have been camping in Delhi for the past few days to meet the party's central leaders and express their grievances. They are not happy over how Biren is running the government.

Last week, Radheshyam had resigned from the post of advisor to the CM as he was "never given a responsibility" since his appointment on December 31 last year. On Monday, the BJP suffered yet another setback when Shyam had quit as the chairman of Tourism Corporation Manipur Limited. "I tender my resignation as I have not been assigned any responsibility," he had written in his resignation letter to the CM.

BJP Manipur president A Sharda Devi has already claimed the resignations would not harm the party in any manner. Biren has not yet said anything other than reacting to a tweet of Congress leader Jairam Ramesh.

Party will take a call, not any individual, says Ajit Pawar

Remains ambivalent on whether his party will be part of MVA

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

AMID reports of Ajit Pawar joining hands with the BJP, the NCP leader said on Tuesday that whatever decision is taken, it will be in consonance with his party leadership, and not by an individual.

Ajit Pawar met his party MLAs at Vidhan Bhavan, followed by a press conference. He alleged that there was a deliberate attempt to malign his image and divert attention from the main issues.

However, he remained ambivalent about whether he will join BJP. He also did not mention if the NCP will remain a part of the Maha Vikas Aghadi.

He said the MLAs came to Mumbai for their work, so they met him. "I had not called any special meeting, but the media is giving more importance to everything that is related to me. At Nagpur's MVA rally, Congress' Balasaheb Thorat did not speak, but the media highlighted only me," he said.

"TV channels deployed the cameras in front of my bungalow and even entered inside. This should be stopped," Pawar said. Without mentioning Shiv Sena leader Sanjay Raut's name, he said others should not be discussing his party. "They are free to write about their party in their party mouthpiece not about our internal issues. They should not try to be the advocate of our party. I will raise this in the MVA meeting," Pawar said.

The media is giving more importance to everything that is related to me... as long as I'm alive, I will remain with the party (NCP).

Ajit Pawar

Raut in his Saamna column on Sunday wrote that NCP chief Sharad Pawar shared that his party MLAs are pressured to join hands with the BJP in 'season-II' of party breaking in Maharashtra.

Ajit Pawar said as long as he is alive, he will remain with his party. "Shall I write this on an affidavit?" he asked.

He said people should not test his patience. "I have not taken the signatures of his MLAs. We are together and are not going away," Pawar said.

Sharad Pawar in an interview with Marathi channel said that "if some individual wants to leave the party, then that will be an individual's decision, not that of the party." However, in a contradiction, Ajit said no individual would take a decision, and that only the party will take a call.

These developments come against the backdrop of a plea seeking disqualification of 16 MLAs of the Chief Minister Eknath Shinde-led Shiv Sena that is pending before the Supreme Court.

Sources say the numbers in the assembly are heavily in favour of the Shinde-BJP government, but for the 2024 elections, if Ajit, along with other NCP leaders, join the ranks, it could be a clean sweep for the NDA as Maharashtra brings 48 seats, the second highest number Lok Sabha, after UP.

Sources said NCP talks with the BJP are still on. "Media reports will force them to halt the process, but they will resume soon," said a source. "The reason is the BJP desperately needs the third partner ahead of the 2024 Lok Sabha elections. The NCP chief is buying time for more negotiations with the BJP. Pawar wants to do things on his terms," said a source.

Hate speech politics gains ground

Congress government, in an apparent crack down on hate contents on social media, finds ground to counter the alleged divisive agenda that the ruling party believes have been brought forth in an election year. Eight BJP leaders were identified for spiteful hate posts following the communal clash in Bemetra district. The BJP pasted 'Congress karyalaya (office) posters' at civil lines thana in protest. They lodged complaints seeking action against Nandkumar Baghel (father of chief minister), cabinet ministers.

Major e-auction of metals accomplished

The mineral department has successfully allotted a total of 23 mineral blocks.

Cong happy as state gets recognition on schemes

The ruling Congress facing an all out campaign by the opposition BJP against Bhupesh Baghel government in an election year, finds the "excellence award" bestowed to the state for implementing Pradhan Mantri Fasal Bima Yojana (PMFBY) as a shot in the arm for the party. Earlier this month, the state was cited as leading in the country on maintaining and upgrading the Pradhan Mantri Gram Sadak Yojana (PMGSY). PM Narendra Modi also lauded the efforts of the state. While BJP cited that it's the Centre's schemes benefitting the state and its people in a big way, the Congress claimed that state government never undermines any welfare scheme. A total of 6,77,558 eligible farmers were provided with crop insurance benefits in 2022-23. 2,589 roads of 16,297 km were constructed.

Gehlot loyalist minister in soup over suicide case

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

RAJASTHAN Cabinet Minister Mahesh Joshi is embroiled in controversy. A case has been registered against Joshi, who is considered close to Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot, and seven others, for abetting the suicide of a 43-year-old man in Jaipur.

The victim, Ram Prasad, recently made a video accusing the eight individuals, including Joshi, of preventing him from building a house on his own land in Jaipur's Walled City area. Prasad claimed in his video message that Joshi and his group caused so much trouble to his family that he was forced to take the extreme step.

Prasad, who ran a tea shop, made numerous appeals to be allowed to build on the land which belonged to his family. Later, Prasad's brother Mahavir filed a complaint.

He said despite having a municipal corporation lease, his brother was subjected to casteist comments. Mahavir stated that when he approached the Municipal Corporation officials, they cited pressure from Joshi.

Maoists attack C'garh MLA's convoy

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

SUSPECTED Maoists opened fire on the convoy of Bijapur Congress legislator Vikram Mandavi while he was returning after attending a public program at Gangalur, about 350 km south of Raipur on Tuesday. The attackers fled the scene and those in the motorcade had a narrow escape with no one reported any injury.

"The MLA, Bijapur district panchayat member Parvati Kashyap and the people's representative accompanying him (in the convoy) are safe and have safely returned to the district headquarter", Bastar range inspector general of police Sundarraj P told this newspaper and further added that the police force have been sent to area to inquire into the suspected Maoist attack.

"We had gone to the local haat bazar at Gangapur to attend the party's Nukkad sabha. There was abrupt firing on our convoy while we were returning. We were provided protection as per the given protocol but can't say if there was any lapse in security", said Mandavi.

On May 25, 2013 an audacious Maoist attack eliminated a chunk of top Congress leadership in Bastar when 29 persons were killed at Jhiram valley. Nearly after 10 years, the inside story and truth behind the attack still seems shrouded in "unresolved" mystery.

After Atiq's murder, Yogi promises industrialists security of their assets

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

SPEAKING for the first time on law and order in Uttar Pradesh after the double murder of gangster-turned politician Atiq Ahmed and his brother Ashraf in police custody, UP CM Yogi Adityanath said his government is committed to ridding the state of gangsters and dreaded criminals.

"Those who were a threat to UP earlier…now UP is a threat to them," Yogi said here on Tuesday. Speaking at an event organised to sign a memorandum of understanding between Centre and UP in the presence of Union Minister Piyush Goel for the establishment of the Textile Park announced recently, Yogi assured the investors of the security of their investments and properties.

"We guarantee your personal security and the security of your money. The law and order in Uttar Pradesh have undergone a sea change since 2017. Now there is a rule of law in the state. It was the worst before 2017," said the CM.

Yogi Adityanath, under attack from various quarters of Opposition after the killing of Atiq and Ashraf and also the encounter of Atiq's son Asad who was wanted in Umesh Pal murder case, added that any professional gangster or criminal could not threaten anyone anymore over phone for extortion in Uttar Pradesh.

"Now no professional criminal can dare to threaten anyone over phone for extortion," he said without taking any name. He claimed that earlier UP was known as the state of riots. "UP used to witness communal or caste conflagration every third day. In fact, between 2012 and 2017, Uttar Pradesh witnessed over 700 riots and between 2007 and 2012, there were 364 flareups. However, from 2017 to 2023, there has not been a single riot in UP," said the CM.

Buddhist leaders meet at last Indian village in Arunachal

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

CLOSE on the heels of China renaming 11 places in Arunachal Pradesh, top Himalayan Buddhist leaders attended a national conference at Zemithang, the last Indian village in the Tawang sector of the LAC.

"Zemithang, as you might all know, is the last Indian border through which His Holiness the 14th Dalai Lama entered India in 1959. Therefore, holding this conference here is significant," Arunachal Chief Minister Pema Khandu said addressing the gathering.

The conference was held on Monday at the Gorsam Stupa on the theme "Nalanda Buddhism – retracing the source in footsteps of Acharyas: From Nalanda to Himalayas and beyond". Khandu subtly laid facts that buttressed Arunachal's inherently Indian identity. He stressed that the Buddhist culture – which thrives on peaceful co-existence of every sentient being – should not only be preserved but also propagated.

"The main pillar on which Nalanda Buddhism stands is the principle of reasoning and analysis. This means we can even bring the teachings of Lord Buddha under the ambit of reasoning and analysis. This logic is based on science and perhaps, Buddhism is the only religion that gives its followers this liberty," the CM, who hails from Tawang, said.

He said Arunachal is home not only to Buddhism but also to several religions, including those who follow indigenous faith. He expressed gratitude to the Indian Himalayan Council of Nalanda Buddhist Tradition for organizing the conference at Zemithang, 'one of the holiest places of Buddhism'.

He said Buddhism is expanding globally and witnessing important resurgence in traditional areas. He stressed on making its presence vibrant, roots connected to Nalanda Buddhism. The conference was attended by 600 delegates, with 45 Buddhist leaders and scholars from all Himalayan areas.

Punjab locks horns with Centre on market development fee for rural infra

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

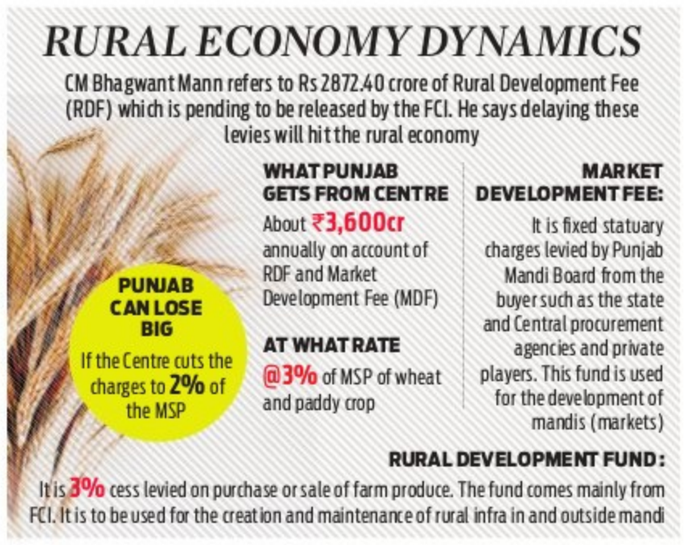
A confrontation is on the cards between the Centre and the Punjab government as the Centre has told the Bhagwant Mann dispensation that it should bring down the Market Development Fee (MDF) from the rate of 3% of the Minimum Support Price (MSP) to 2% and that it is considering the allowance of Rural Development Fund (RDF) at the rate of 3% of the MSP.

However, the cash-strapped state government has written back to the Union government asking for releasing the pending RDF amounting to ₹2872.40 crore.

It says delaying these levies is affecting rural infrastructure and the economy of the state. Punjab receives around ₹3,600 crore annually on account of these two fees.

Union Minister for Food and Public Distribution Piyush Goyal referred to Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann's January 30 letter on March 27, saying he has had the matter examined. "The matter regarding allowance of RDF @ 3% of MSP is under active consideration of the department," said Goyal.

"This department has twice (June 29, 2022, and January 5) requested the Punjab government to revisit the existing levies so as to restrict the statutory charges only up to 2% of MSP. Most states have already restricted the claim of their statutory charges to that level," Goyal wrote.



Bench raps Guj govt for remission in Bilkis case

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Tuesday slammed the Gujarat government for granting remission to 11 life convicts in the Bilkis Bano case, saying the state should have considered the gravity of the offence before taking the call.

Terming the case of a pregnant woman being gang-raped and her relatives murdered as horrendous, Justice K M Joseph said, "When you exercise power, it has to be for public good. Specially in this case because crimes are committed against the community... What is the message you are sending? Will you compare a case of murder of a single person with that of 14 helpless people... Like you cannot compare apples with oranges, massacre cannot be compared with single murder."

The bench also took strong exception to the Gujarat government and the Centre proposing to file a review petition citing privilege to challenge the court's March 27 direction to produce before it all relevant files on remission.

"We are seeking review of the order for producing files and also seeking privilege. Besides, many documents are in Gujarati, they require translation," Additional Solicitor General S V Raju submitted.

Justice Joseph retorted, "If you don't show us the files, then we will draw our own conclusion. What is the problem in showing us the files today? You're in contempt if you haven't produced it. What is the difficulty?" The court granted them time to decide on filing the review petition and posted the matter for final disposal on May 2.

During the hearing, the bench also questioned the extent of parole. "Look at the records, one of them was granted parole for 1,000 days that is three years, the other 1,200 days and third is for 1,500 days. What policy have you (Gujarat government) been following? It is not a simple case of section 302 (murder)."

Zelenskyy and Putin visit Ukraine hotspots

Russian Prez visited Kherson & Luhansk province while Ukrainian Prez met soldiers in Avdiivka, a city in Donetsk

KYIV

RUSSIAN President Vladimir Putin has visited command posts of the Kremlin's forces fighting in Ukraine for the second time in two months, the officials said on Tuesday, while Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy made his latest trip to positions near the front line. The visits sought to stiffen the resolve of soldiers as the war approaches its 14th month and as Kyiv readies a possible counteroffensive with Western-supplied weapons.

A video released by the Kremlin showed Putin arriving by helicopter at the command post of Russian forces in southern Ukraine's Kherson province and then flying to the headquarters of the Russian National Guard in Luhansk province, which is in the east.

Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov said the visits took place on Monday. The trip represented an apparent attempt by the Russian leader to rally his troops and demonstrate his authority. Dressed in a dark suit, Putin appeared to chair meetings with his military top brass during both of his stops.

He visited the partly Russian-occupied Kherson and Lugansk regions and heard reports from top commanders on Monday, and the Kremlin made the trips public a day after it happened.

"It's important for me to hear your opinion on the situation, to listen to you and to exchange information," Putin said

On Tuesday, Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy made his latest trip to positions near the front line to stiffen the resolve of soldiers battling Putin's troops. Zelenskyy visited units in Avdiivka, a city in Donetsk province where fierce battles are taking place, his office said. He heard first-hand reports about the battlefield situation and handed out awards.

Zelenskyy's visits to areas of his country that have felt the brunt of Russia's full-scale invasion gathered pace last month as he shuttled across the country, often by train. As with Putin, the Ukrainian leader's wartime trips usually aren't publicised until after he's already left an area. While official coverage of Putin's trip showed the Russian leader in mostly formal and ceremonious settings, photographs issued by Zelenskyy's office showed the Ukrainian president taking selfies with soldiers, eating cake with them and drinking out of paper cups. Agencies

G7 vows tough, unified stance on Russia's war

KARUIZAWA

TOP diplomats from the Group of Seven (G7) wealthy democracies vowed a unified front against Chinese threats to Taiwan and Russia's war of aggression in Ukraine, saying at the close of their meetings on Tuesday that they were committed to boosting and enforcing tough sanctions against Moscow.

The G-7 communique laying out their commitments also included strong words over an unprecedented run of North Korean missile tests. But it was China's growing assertiveness in Asia and Russia's invasion of Ukraine that highlighted three-day summit hosted by Japan.

"There can be no impunity for war crimes and other atrocities such as Russia's attacks against civilians and critical civilian infrastructure," the ministers said.

"We remain committed to intensifying sanctions against Russia, coordinating and fully enforcing them," the communique said, and would support "for as long as it takes" Ukraine as it defends itself.

The foreign ministers' communique was prepared as a template for global leaders to use at a G-7 summit that will be held in Hiroshima next month, and included language about Iran, Myanmar, Afghanistan, nuclear proliferation and other "grave threats."

But two crises stood out: China's increasing threats against, and military maneuvers around, Taiwan, the self-governing democracy that Beijing claims as its own, and Russia's invasion of Ukraine.

"Russia's irresponsible nuclear rhetoric and its threat to deploy nuclear weapons in Belarus are unacceptable," the ministers said. AP

Indian climber Baljeet Kaur rescued from Mt Annapurna

KATHMANDU

TWO Indians, prominent woman climber Baljeet Kaur and the youngest Indian to climb Mt Everest in 2010, Arjun Vajpayee, were rescued from Mt Annapurna in Nepal on Tuesday, officials from the expedition organisers said.

Kaur, 27, who scaled the world's 10th highest peak without using supplemental oxygen, went missing near Camp IV while descending from the summit point on Monday.

She was rescued from 7,363 metres after an aerial search team located her above Camp IV, Chairman at Pioneer Adventure Pasang Sherpa, was quoted as saying by the Himalayan Times newspaper. "She has suffered from frostbite," Sherpa said. Kaur has been admitted to CIWEC Hospital in Kathmandu for treatment. Kaur was seen descending alone towards Camp IV by the aerial search team, according to Sherpa.

The leading Indian woman climber, who was left alone below the summit point, remained out of radio contact till this morning, the report added.

An aerial search mission was initiated on Tuesday morning only after she managed to send a radio signal asking for 'immediate help.' According to Sherpa, her GPS location has indicated an altitude of 7,375 metres. She climbed Mt Annapurna along with two Sherpa guides at around 5.15 pm on Monday.

At least three helicopters were mobilised to trace her.

Indian climber Arjun Vajpayi was also rescued from 6,800 metres, Seven Summit Trek's Expedition Director Chhawang Dawa Sherpa said.

"He has sustained injuries," Department of Tourism Director Yubraj Khatiwada was quoted as saying in The Kathmandu Post. Vajapi, 29, was admitted for treatment to Hams Hospital after being airlifted to Kathmandu. PTI

Sudan truce takes effect, but fighting rages in the capital

KHARTOUM

A 24-hour ceasefire reportedly reached between Sudan's rival generals went into effect on Tuesday, but fighting continued in the capital and it was unclear whether it would hold.

Residents said they still heard gunfire and explosions in different parts of Khartoum, particularly around the military's headquarters and the Republican Palace, the seat of power. They said few people had ventured out, though there were crowds outside some bakeries.

The truce between Sudan's military and a paramilitary group known as the Rapid Support Forces (RSF) came into effect at 6 pm local time on the fourth day of heavy fighting. The RSF immediately accused the military of violating the cease-fire, whereas there was no comment from the army.

Figures by United Nations have put the toll from fighting at more than 185 dead and 1,800 wounded, without providing a breakdown of civilians and combatants.

The two sides had continued fighting each other in the streets of Khartoum throughout the day, underscoring the fragility of efforts to bring even a pause in the intensifying violence that has raised the specter of civil war in Africa's third largest nation.

Over the past day, fighters in Khartoum attacked a US Embassy convoy and stormed the home of the EU envoy to Sudan, though neither attack caused casualties. The convoy of clearly marked US Embassy vehicles was attacked on Monday, and preliminary reports link the assailants to the RSF, US Secretary of State Antony Blinken said. Everyone in the convoy was safe, he said.

Amid increasing alarm, Blinken had stepped up efforts for a ceasefire.

He spoke by phone late Monday separately with the two rival generals—armed forces chief Gen. Abdel Fattah Burhan and RSF leader Gen. Mohammed Hamdan Dagalo— seeking a 24-hour halt in fighting as a foundation for a longer truce.

Dagalo said on Tuesday that he had approved a 24-hour humanitarian truce after speaking to Blinken. AP

CLAIMS ON ARMY DEATHS RUBBISHED

Indonesia's military chief Adm. Yudo Margono on Tuesday dismissed a separatist group claim that they had killed more than a dozen government soldiers who were searching for a pilot taken hostage by the rebels in Papua. Adm. Rebel spokesperson Sebby Sambom said on Monday that his group was holding the remains of 12 soldiers, including nine who he said "were arrested and executed." The rebels offered no proof to back up their statement.

IT stocks to remain under pressure

Global slowdown, delay in execution likely to impact this segment in the first half of FY24

ARSHAD KHAN @New Delhi

FOLLOWING a dismal earning show by TCS and Infosys in the March ending quarter (Q4FY23), IT stocks are expected to remain under pressure for the next few quarters. Barring the exception of HCL Technologies, most IT stocks have plummeted by 10-30% in the past one year and following the Q4FY23 earning show, the stocks may witness increased selling pressure.

"IT stocks will remain under pressure for the first half of the financial year 2024 due to global slowdown and delay in execution despite strong order wins," said Mitul Shah, market veteran and head of research at Reliance Securities.

"We expect a gradual recovery in the second half of FY24 and expect a strong bounceback by fiscal end. We would wait for some more correction and better business visibility in coming quarters before entering this space," added Shah. After Infosys' and TCS' Q4FY23 earnings numbers missed the street estimate, IT stocks plunged sharply on Monday. On Tuesday, while TCS and Tech Mahindra closed with minor cuts, Wipro and HCL Tech closed with gains of up to 2%. Infosys, whose shares had fallen to 52-week low on Monday, barely managed to close in the green. Infosys closed at ₹1,259 on the NSE on Tuesday.

TCS	-10%
Infosys	-18%
Wipro	-31%
Tech Mahindra	-21%
HCL Technology	-0.50%

Infosys expects revenue in FY24 to grow between 4-7% while TCS said they still see possibility of a double-digit growth in FY24. Following the collapse of Silicon Valley Bank and Credit Suisse, BFSI vertical spending are likely to get impacted with a delay in decision-making and discretionary spending. India's IT sector earns 25% of its revenue from BFSI sector of the US and Europe.

Infosys and TCS reported quarter-on-quarter revenue declines of 3.8% and 0.8%, respectively, in North America. The revenue decline in North America was seen across verticals.

Aamar Deo Singh, head advisory at Angel One said post TCS, Infosys results, IT stocks have corrected sharply, on the back of investor fears of a slowdown, with clients from the US and Europe, adopting a more cautious approach.

CHINA

GDP GROWS 4.5% IN Q1, BOOSTED BY CONSUMPTION

China reported a gross domestic product (GDP) growth of 4.5% in the first quarter, boosted by increased consumption and retail sales as the authorities lifted stringent 'zero-COVID' strategy, according to government data released Tuesday. The country recorded a 2.9% growth in the previous quarter. As harsh COVID-19 restrictions were removed, people flocked to shopping malls and restaurants, which boosted the country's GDP growth in the first quarter.Total retail sales of consumer goods in the country went up by 10.6% year on year in March. The country's industrial production output grew 3.9% in March compared to the same time last year. Fixed-asset investment rose 5.1% in the first three months of 2023 as against the same period last year. Chinese government earlier this year had set this year's economic growth target at 'around 5%.' Economy fell to 3% last year, hampered by anti-virus controls.

THAILAND

CENTRAL BANK SEES HEADLINE INFLATION AT 2.6%

Bank of Thailand (BOT) on Tuesday said expects average headline inflation at 2.6per cent over the next 12 months. Inflation returned within its target range of 1-3% for the first time in 15 months. The BOT letter stated issued on Tuesday medium-term inflation expectations remained well-anchored within the target range. With economic recovery on track and some upside risks to inflation from demand-pull pressures, the BOT's rate-setting committee maintained. However, the central bank was ready to adjust the pace and timing of the strategy if growth and inflation outlooks shift. It raised its benchmark rate by 125 basis points to 1.75% since August to curb inflation. The central bank will review its monetary policy on May 31.

ASIA

Unpaid subsidies killing EV revolution: SMEV

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

THE Society of Manufacturers of Electric Vehicles (SMEV) in a petition written to Parliamentary Standing Committees on Industry and Estimates said unpaid subsidies are killing the electric vehicle (EV) revolution.

EV sales have hit a road bump in recent months after the government started holding up subsidies, now worth Rs 1200 crore, to manufacturers over allegations of violations of norms, mostly relating to importing components from China. SMEV had last week said that in FY23 electric 2W adoption ended "with an annual shortfall of more than 25% over the minimum target set by Niti Aayog and various research organisations".

"Now that the country is almost ready with the entire supply chain, the only thing holding up the sector is the Rs 1200 Crore worth of subsidies that have been withheld leading to a serious liquidity crisis in the industry," said SMEV in its letter. The letter noted that current trends are showing a slowing down of EV adoption due to the financial stress for the industry, which has been besieged by irritants designed to disturb the momentum of FAME 2.

SMEV also alleges FAME 2 subsidy program has been delayed by 'fake' emails. The basis of the delay has been proven to be mischievous emails alleging non-adherence to policy norms as regards localization targets.

Fans queue up as Tim Cook opens Apple's first retail store in Mumbai

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @Mumbai

THE wait for thousands of Apple fans finally came to end on Tuesday as Tim Cook opened the door of the company's first brick-and-mortar store retail store in Mumbai. The CEO of the world's most valuable company greeted the fans with Namaste and clicked selfies with the first few customers.

"The energy, creativity, and passion in Mumbai is incredible! We are so excited to open Apple BKC- our first store in India," Cook said on Twitter.

The two-storied glass store, located in the Reliance-owned Jio World Drive mall at the Bandra Kurla Complex (BKC), is one of the most energy-efficient Apple Store locations globally as it operates on 100 percent renewable energy.

Hundreds of Apple fans started to queue up outside Apple BKC at 6 am in the hope to become the first to enter the store and meet Tim Cook. There were some die-hard fans who had reached the store a night earlier on Monday. Sajid Moinuddin, who was among the first few to reach the store, brought his 1984 Macintosh and got it signed by the CEO. The store spread across 22,000 square feet with some trees inside it, allows fans to explore the latest Apple products like iPhone, Mac, iPad, AirPods, Watch, and TV lineups, as well as accessories.

GADGETS MANIA

ENTRY OF APPLE FLAGS JOBS, SERVICES FOR MIDDLE CLASS

GURBIR SINGH

IT'S been the week of The Apple. The premium iPhone manufacturer's first direct retail entry in India in the form of two company stores opening in Mumbai's upscale BKC commercial area and Delhi's Saket have caught the headlines. The current flavour includes stories ranging from Apple CEO Tim Cook enjoying Mumbai's street food wada-pav, to advertorials on the iconic timber used in the 20,000 sq ft Mumbai store. The immediate target for Apple is to provide a feel-and-touch for consumers of its various brands. These are expensive, premium products which need direct 'retail engagement'. In the longer term, Apple intends to slow down on China and shift as much as 25% of all iPhones assembled worldwide to India by 2025. A million jobs are what the company says will add to India's labour market. If it can match its claim, this indeed is a welcome development.

In recent years, despite the red carpet offered to foreign investors, the story has been a mixed bag on the ground. The government conceded in Parliament that as many as 2,783 foreign companies and their subsidiaries had ceased operations between 2014 and November 2021. Some big exits have been Cairn Energy, Holcim, Daiichi Sankyo, Carrefour, Henkel, Harley Davidson and Ford. While internal issues were responsible for the exits in some cases, many investing companies complained of hidden costs in taxation policies and, most of all, changing goalposts in the regulatory regime.

However, Apple's entry now heralds a new opportunity. China has throttled back on its earlier liberal investment policies, and digital retailers like Jack Ma's Alibaba and Tencent Holdings have seen a massive meltdown. So, as investors search for new hubs, the Indian government should fine-tune its offering to catch them on the rebound. The Apple foray is significant as it affirms that India has a large and vibrant premium consumer class that has been ignored in recent years. The premium- luxury market has its own ecosystem. Even if we take a conservative 200 million as the size of India's middle class, it offers a huge market for retail services; and consequently for jobs and wealth generation. Apple took 25 years to open its first stores in India as single-brand retailers were earlier banned. An easier regulatory regime will help attract higher investments and growth in this premium consumer segment.

Govt denies any changes in capital gains tax

MONIKA YADAV @New Delhi

THE government on Tuesday denied reports of overhauling in the capital gains tax laws to bridge inequality of income in India.

"It is clarified that there is no such proposal before the government on capital gains tax," the Income Tax department tweeted after the international news agency said that the Centre is mulling to raise capital gains tax to reduce the gap in incomes in the country.

According to the report, the government may appoint a panel to build on proposals submitted to the Ministry of Finance in 2019 with an eye to implement in 2024, though no final decisions have been made.

While the high income slab is taxed at 30%, various asset classes like equity are taxed at lower rates. After the Union Budget 2023-24 was presented, Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman had told media that it was too early to make changes in the capital gains tax law as the law was tweaked in 2018 only.

In the amendment made to Finance Bill 2023, indexation benefit on long-term capital gains from debt mutual funds was removed.

From April 1, 2023, debt mutual funds are being taxed as per the income tax slabs of an individual's income like in the case of fixed deposits.

Earlier, long-term gains were taxed at 20% with indexation benefit.

Earlier, finance ministry sources had told this newspaper that the government was keen on doing away with the indexation benefit in the budget itself, but it was not taken ahead as the long-term capital gains in equities was brought only five years ago and the government wanted people to adjust with the present system.

PE activity lowest in 8 quarters in Q1

UMA KANNAN @Bengaluru

THE funding winter, which started a few quarters ago, has continued in the first three months of this year as private equity (PE) witnessed a 42% decline in volumes and 44% in values compared to the same quarter previous year.

It recorded only 256 deals worth $5.3 billion, which is the lowest in the last eight quarters, according to the deal tracker report by Grant Thornton Bharat. The Silicon Valley Bank collapse and the US market had a spillover effect on the deal market in India as investors adopted a cautious approach and slowed the investments. Also, Q1, 2023, recorded 332 deals valuing $9.7 billion, which is 46% decline in volumes and a 35% decline in values, on back of heightened volatility in global markets. The report added that compared to Q4, 2022, deal values and volumes in Q1, 2023, recorded a 16% decline each.

LOSING MOMENTUM

March 2023 recorded 98 deals amounting to $5.2 billion

Q1, 2023 recorded 332 deals valuing $9.7 billion

Q1, 2023 witnessed 4 IPO issues raising $84.4 million

M&A activity recorded 76 deals worth $4.4 billion

PE ACTIVITY WITNESSED A DECLINING TREND, BY 42% (VOLUMES) AND 44% (VALUES)

The deal values in the last quarter of 2022 were driven by Biocon's acquisition of Viatris Inc worth $3.3 billion along with 14 other high value transactions of $100 million and above amounting to $7.9 billion compared to 17 such deals recorded in Q1, 2023, driven by Suraksha Realty's acquisition of Jaypee Infratech for $2.5 billion. In case of mergers and acquisitions, 76 deals worth $4.4 billion were recorded. This was 56% lower in volumes and 21% declined in values over Q1 2022. The decline in deal volumes was majorly contributed by a 62% fall in domestic activity recording third lowest quarterly deal volumes for any given quarter since 2011, the report added. Shanthi Vijetha, Partner- Growth at Grant Thornton Bharat, said, "Q1 2023 witnessed a significant decline in deals landscape compared to Q1 2022. The global developments appear to have dampened the deal activity of the domestic players, however, it seems to be temporary as the pre-deal activity picked up in March/ April."

The start-up sector continued to lead the deal activity in Q1 2023 with 22% of the deals for the quarter. However, this was 71% lower than deal activity witnessed in this sector in Q1 2022 recording only 17 deals valued at $69 million.

NCLT extends deadline for RCap resolution process by 3 months

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @Mumbai

THE Mumbai bench of National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT) has extended the deadline for completing the resolution process of Reliance Capital by three months to July 16 as the earlier deadline of April 16 has already passed.

The lenders to Reliance Capital, have decided to hold the auction for the sale of assets Anil Ambani-promoted company undergoing insolvency proceedings on April 26. The 90 days deadline extension was necessitated as the lenders decided to hold a second round of auction on April 26 in order to maximise the recovery from the sale of Reliance Capital assets. The deadline to complete the resolution process of RCap has been extended multiple times in the past.

IndusInd International Holdings Ltd (IIHL) of Hinduja Group; Torrent Investment and Singapore-based Oaktree will be participating in the extended challenge mechanism (second round of auction). There are still some issues which need to be ironed out and discussions are still going on between bidders and banks, said a source. The bidders want an assurance that the lenders will not go for another round of auction even if the offers are below the liquidation value of Rs13000 crore.

The banks and other creditors are unwilling to agree for this condition. According to lenders, the main idea for holding the auction is to get maximum value for the assets. Earlier the second round of auction was scheduled for April 11, but it was postponed for April 26.

All the bidders have asked for the resolution plans to be compliant to the the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code (IBC) and Request for Resolution Plan (RFRP), as in the earlier auction held on 21 December, the bidders plans were found to be non-compliant.

SBI board gives nod to raise $2 billion

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @Mumbai

STATE BANK OF INDIA (SBI), country's largest lender, on Tuesday, said the board has approved raising up to $2 billion for financial year 2023-24 via foreign currency bonds in single or multiple tranches.

"The Executive Committee of the Central Board in its meeting on 18th April 2023 has approved, inter alia, the following: To examine the status and decide on long-term fund raising in single / multiple tranches up to $ 2 billion under Reg-S/144A, through a public offer and/or private placement of senior unsecured notes in US Dollar or any other convertible currency during FY 2023-24"," said SBI in an exchange filing.

The Reg-S/144A allows non-US firms to issue securities to investors in the US and other markets without having to register with the Securities and Exchange Commission. SBI had raised ₹3,717 crore last month via its third Basel III compliant Additional Tier 1 bond issuance for FY23, at coupon rate of 8.25%.

Air traffic grows 21% in March, IndiGo market share increases to 56.8%

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

INDIAN airlines carried a total of 1.28 crore domestic passengers in March 2023, a 21.41% increase year-on-year.

For January-March quarter (Q4FY23), airlines clocked a 51% increase in domestic passenger traffic to 3.75 crore, according to data released by the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA).

The passenger traffic in March 2023 is highest post covid-19 and was just a few thousands away from the highest-ever monthly traffic ever recorded. India saw the highest-ever monthly traffic of 1.30 crore in December 2019.

The country's leading carrier IndiGo increased its domestic market share from 53.8% in Q4FY22 to 55.7% in Q4FY23. For the month of March alone, IndiGo's share in the domestic market stood at 56.8%.

While IndiGo maintains its lion's share, Tata group's flagship airline Air India's market share fell from 9.9% in Q4FY22 to 9% in Q4FY23 while Vistara's share remained stagnant at 8.8%. AirAsia India saw an increase in market share from 5.8% to 7.3%.

SpiceJet and Go First, the two carriers which have been facing financial difficulties, reported a significant drop in market share. While SpiceJet's share fell from 10.2% in Q4FY22 to 6.9% in Q4FY23, Go First's share came down from 9.8% to 7.8%. The market share of the recently launched Akasa Air improved to 3.3% in March from 3% in February. Domestic air passenger traffic is expected to remain robust and clock double-digit growth of 17% in FY24, rating agency Crisil said in its report last month.

Crisil added that air traffic will pick up pace due to rising international and business travel, capacity expansion by airport operators, and higher availability of aircraft.

WHY MAHABS FOR INTL SURFING EVENT?

1 During the surf season from May to September, Mahabalipuram has world class waves attracting domestic and international adventure tourists.

2 Mahabs has hosted many local and national surf competitions in the past 10 years.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Chennai

WITH an eye on the 2028 Olympic Games, Tamil Nadu will be hosting an International Surf Open, part of the World Surf League (WSL), at Mahabalipuram from August 14-20 this year. It will be a first such event organised in India. Though it was already announced in the TN assembly a few days ago, Tamil Nadu sports minister Udhayanidhi Stalin on Tuesday formally vetted it and extended the government's full support to the Surfing Federation of India (SFI) and Tamil Nadu Surf Association (TNSA) in conducting the international event.

"Surfing being an Olympic sport has become a priority. This international tournament offers a remarkable platform for our surfers to demonstrate their abilities and bring pride to our nation," he told the press conference before handing over a cheque of ₹2.67 crore sanctioned by the government to SFI president Arun Vasu.

In the last few years, Tamil Nadu has emerged as a surfing destination in India with good talent pool both in the Groms (16&under) and open men's category. Out of 20 top national surfers, 19 are from the state.

Arun Vasu, who is also the chairman cum managing director of TT Group that nurtured surfing culture in Tamil Nadu, said International Surf Open, a WSL QS 3000 event, would see participants from some 12-14 countries and about 80-100 surfers.

> Our (TNSA) focus in the next five years will be to train young kids and establish India as a force in the world surfing scene
>
> Arun Vasu, SFI president

"The TNSA would like to thank the TN government for support and sponsorship in bringing this world class event to the state. What started as a drop in the ocean 10 years ago in Kovalam has now put Tamil Nadu and India on the world map for surfing. Our focus in the next five years will be to train young kids and establish India as a force in the world surfing scene," said Vasu. The QS 3000 event carries a total prize money of $45,000 and 3,000 Tour points and would feature top surfers from Asia and Australia. Also, surfers who were currently not eligible for the Championship Tour events will be able to compete in the qualifying series of events and earn points towards qualifying for the following year's championship Tour events. The qualifying series comprises QS 10,000, QS 5,000, QS 3,000, QS 1,500 and QS 1,000 level events. At the WSL10 wild cards for top Indian surfers.

Vasu said WSL is giving 10 wild cards for top Indian surfers. In the lead-up to the WSL-QS 3,000 event, the TNSA along with SFI would be hosting a series of 3 national-level surf competitions — "The East Coast Challenge" and the top 10 surfers would receive a wild card entry for the QS 3,000 event. The qualifying series events would be held at Pondicherry (Pondicherry Surf Challenge — July 29 and 30); Mahabalipuram Point Break Challenge (August 5 and 6) and the Covelong Classic (August 12 and 13).

Atulya Mishra, additional chief secretary, Youth Welfare and Sports Development, told TNIE, since surfing was a Olympic sport, the local surfers are eligible for government scholarships. "I encourage the budding surfers, who need financial support, to apply for various scholarships and contact the Tamil Nadu Sports Development Authority for necessary guidance."

TODAY'S MATCH

Top of the table clash

Royals can, even at this early stage of the season, have one foot in the knockouts with a win while Lucknow can join them on eight points if they win.

CONTRASTING TOP-ORDERS

Jos Buttler and Yashasvi Jaiswal like to go in search of boundaries from the first ball while the majority of the Lucknow players like to take their time. Deepak Hooda, who has struggled for form in the first five games, is yet to fire the imagination while the experiment of Krunal Pandya at No. 4 may already be on its last legs.

HETMYER VS WOOD

The West Indian's entry point may not be till the back end of the innings but that hasn't stopped him from influencing games. What has worked for him is his ability to boundary hit all kinds of bowling. Him against the raw pace of Mark Wood could be a battle that could have a big bearing.

HOLDER VS POORAN

Adam Zampa played the last game but they may decide to go back to Jason Holder for this one. If they do, he will face Nicholas Pooran, another finisher who has found his bearings straightaway. They have played a lot of cricket together in practice sessions so it will be interesting to see who has the measure of whom.

Run Rate of 8.73 from 49 innings in 1st 6 overs this term highest in history of IPL

FLEXING MUSCLES IN POWERPLAYS

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@ Chennai

WHEN the two Sunrisers Hyderabad openers walked out to bat to chase Mumbai Indians' 192/5, it signalled the start of the 50th innings of this year's Indian Premier League (IPL). Out of all the patterns and sequences that's been visible in the 16th installment of the franchise league, the powerplay intent shown by batters has been front and centre. The fairly significant sample size — the current season is a third of the way in and all teams have played five games each — has produced a couple of telling numbers.

The powerplay Run Rate of 8.73 from 49 innings is the highest in the history of the league, eclipsing the previous best of 8.39 over a full campaign in 2018. After some of the worst powerplay batting performances in recent years (it may not even be comparable to other seasons as it was, by and large, played in the UAE or in neutral venues in India), 2023 has seen the top-order flexing their muscles in a way they have never done before.

This is reflective in the boundaries hit in the first six overs in the 49 innings. It stands at 8.12 per innings (an average of 1.66 sixes and 6.42 fours). It's comfortably higher than the 6.99 in 2022 or in any of the preceding years (refer table). There are multiple reasons behind this. One is fairly obvious. The format has seen a plethora of specialist batting roles and one of the most evolved and well-developed of all batting roles is that of the powerplay hitter. Think of a Yashasvi Jaiswal or a Jos Buttler or even somebody like Virat Kohli.

The former India captain has frequently looked to clear the infield in this year's edition, sometimes even at the expense of holding his shape. One only had to listen to Rohit Sharma after his first 50 of the season helped the franchise to a win over Delhi Capitals. "When I went to bat, I thought I need to make full use of the powerplay because as the game went on, I thought it is going to be tough with the couple of quality spinners they have. So it was there in my mind to keep attacking, take my chances in the first six overs, and then just see where the game is heading," he had told in the post-match presentation ceremony.

Teams have quickly cottoned on to the fact that pairing one powerplay hitter with an anchor up top is the minimum requirement. Run your fingers through the rosters of all teams and you will see. For Lucknow, Kyle Mayers or Quinton de Kock is paired with KL Rahul. For Chennai, both Ruturaj Gaikwad and Devon Conway take it in turns. Likewise in Bangalore. For Punjab, Prabhsimran Singh is the basher while Shikhar Dhawan plays the waiting game. Wriddhiman Saha is a low maintenance, high reward option for Gujarat... this is not an exhaustive list.

Interestingly, the batting teams who have bucked this trend are in the lower reaches of the table. Delhi Capitals, whose run rate is almost an entire run lower than the average, are an example. Hyderabad are another side who have carried out-of-form players at the top. The result is a run-rate of 7.16 across four innings. Their fifth one, against Mumbai Indians at home, didn't bring them much joy. Chasing 193, they had limped and prodded their way to 42. Mumbai didn't need a second invitation as they were on their way to winning a hat-trick of fixtures after beginning their campaign with two losses.

One of the reasons? Powerplay hitting. Over the last three games, Mumbai's run rate in the first six overs stands at 10.72.

Brief scores: Mumbai 192/5 in 20 ovs (Rohit 28, Kishan 38, Green 64 n.o., Varma 37; Jansen 2/43) bt Hyderabad 178 in 19.5 ovs (Agarwal 48, Klassen 36; Meredith 2/33, Behrendorff 2/37, Chawla 2/43).

CITY, INTER LOOK TO SEAL DEAL

Both Manchester City and Inter start big favourites to advance to the semifinals of the Champions League. A look at their respective second leg quarterfinal matches on Wednesday...

BAYERN MUNICH VS MANCHESTER CITY

First leg: Man City 3-0 Bayern

BACKGROUND

It's a trick the Premier League giants have repeated so often in the past. During the run-in, they find that little bit extra to gather a head of steam. This time, they have also seemingly caught that in Europe, a place where they have often overcomplicated. After a fine first leg, they will have get an awful lot wrong if they are to fail to progress. For their part, Bayern have stumbled in recent times winning only one of their last four matches in all competitions.

Inter vs Benfica | First leg: Benfica 0-2 Inter

BACKGROUND The Serie A giants enjoyed a serene first leg and did most of the hard work. A 1-0 reverse at Monza in the league in the weekend will do little to dampen the potential of a first Champions League semifinal in a long time. Important players were rested keeping in mind this match. Benfica have scored a lot of goals but seem to have run out of gas now. In the weekend, they lost to 1-0 to Chaves.

Eye on Haaland as City aim to finish Bayern

AP @ Duesseldorf

MANCHESTER City and Bayern Munich's seasons are each defined by one signing — for better or worse.

As City prepare to finish off Bayern in the Champions League quarterfinals on Wednesday after beating the German champions 3-0 in the first leg, Erling Haaland has redefined the role of a modern striker.

Haaland has scored 47 goals in 40 games in all competitions, and has a possible 13 more games to play this season. The Norwegian scored against Bayern in the first leg after demolishing another German team, Leipzig, with five goals in the previous round.

Then there's Sadio Mane. The Senegal forward was supposed to reshape Bayern's attack into a fluid, flexible threat less reliant on a traditional striker when he joined from Liverpool last year as Robert Lewandowski left.

However, Mane has contributed little on the field in recent months and upset squad stability. He has been a bit-part player ever since a leg injury ruled him out of the World Cup, and was suspended from the squad for Bayern's draw at Hoffenheim on Saturday for what the club called "misconduct" after confronting teammate Leroy Sané in the locker room following the loss to City. German media reported he had struck Sané in the face.

Liverpool hit Leeds for six after controversial Gakpo opener

AGENCIES @ Leeds

LIVERPOOL crushed Leeds 6-1 as Cody Gakpo's controversial opener provided the spark for the Reds' first win in five Premier League games on Monday. Jurgen Klopp's side took the lead at Elland Road when Gakpo's goal was allowed to stand despite the ball striking Trent Alexander-Arnold's arm in the build-up.

It was reported the VAR official did not check the incident because it happened too far back in the move, but Leeds were furious at the perceived injustice. Mohamed Salah rubbed salt into Leeds' wounds when he increased Liverpool's lead four minutes later before Luis Sinisterra got one back for the struggling hosts. Diogo Jota's double, another Salah strike and Darwin Nunez's late effort ensured Liverpool ended their five-game winless run in all competitions. After coming within a whisker of winning a quadruple last season, Liverpool have been reduced to scrambling to reach next season's Europa League or Europa Conference League, with the Champions League seemingly out of reach.

With that target in mind, the eighth-placed Reds are now within two points of seventh-placed Brighton.

"It's the best game we've played this season from all different perspectives," Klopp said. "My favourite part was in the 92nd minute when we chased the poor boy on the ball from Leeds. The counter-pressing was the best for, I want to say, decades!"

Klopp has compared fan criticism of Liverpool potentially not making big-money transfers in the coming close-season as like a five-year-old asking for a Ferrari for Christmas.

But on the evidence of this composed display and the recent fightback from two goals down to draw 2-2 with leaders Arsenal, Liverpool still have the foundations in place for a return to prominence next term.

MALLORCA BEAT CELTA VIGO 1-0

Madrid: Mallorca's struggles on the road in the Spanish league are finally over. A 1-0 win at Celta Vigo on Monday ended the team's seven-match winless streak in away matches, a run that started before the World Cup last year. Amath Ndiaye scored a 21st-minute winner for Mallorca, which was coming off six losses and a draw on the road in the league. It hadn't won anywhere in six straight matches. The result lifted the club coached by Mexican Javier Aguirre to 11th place, one point in front of 12th-placed Celta, which was seeking a win after consecutive draws at Sevilla and against Almeria.

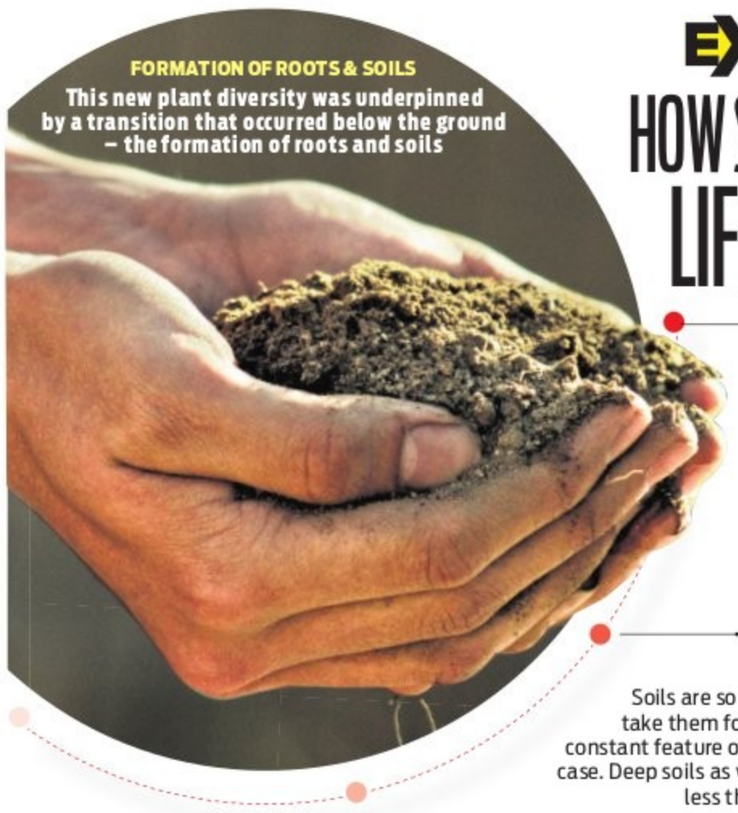
FOR THE FIRST 4 BILLION YEARS OF EARTH'S EXISTENCE, ITS CONTINENTS WERE DUSTY, BARREN AND ROCKY LANDSCAPES SIMILAR TO THE SURFACE OF MARS. BUT, AROUND 500 MILLION YEARS AGO, ALL THIS CHANGED

EXFILE • GEOLOGY

HOW SOILS CHANGED LIFE ON EARTH



From rocky terrain to green landscapes

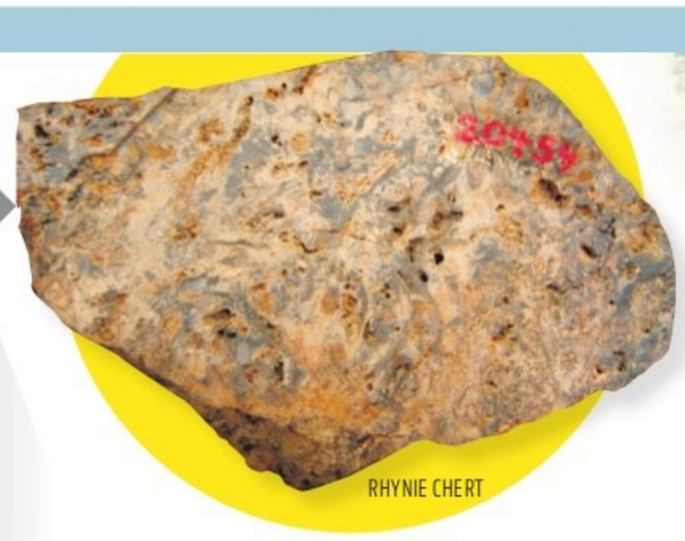
Land plants began to evolve from their freshwater algal ancestors and gradually covered the planet's rocky surface. Originally just a few centimetres tall, the first land plants quickly evolved into more complex forms

Existed less than 10% of our Earth's history

Soils are so abundant today that we often take them for granted or assume they are a constant feature of our planet. But this is not the case. Deep soils as we know them have existed for less than 10% of our planet's history

407 MN YRS OLD RHYNIE CHERT

The earliest evidence for how soils evolved comes from ancient land plant fossils. A rock formation in the northeast of Scotland, called the Rhynie Chert, contains exceptionally well preserved 407 million-year-old plant fossils. This allows scientists to study the diversity of life that thrived here



RHYNIE CHERT

Covered by rhizoids

Their rooting systems were instead composed of thin stems that were covered by hairs called rhizoids. These hairs helped anchor plants to the planet's rocky surface and absorb water and nutrients

Interweaving old and new stems

New hairy stems grew and intertwined with the mass of decaying older stems to gradually build up a thin peaty soil just a few centimetres thick. Despite its thinness, this soil could resist being blown, so provided a foothold for more plants to grow

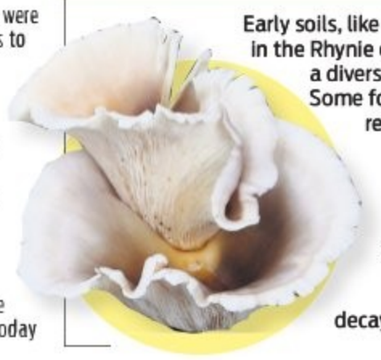
Lack of complex roots

The majority of the plants preserved in the Rhynie chert lack the large complex roots typical of plants you may be familiar with today

THE WATER CYCLE

One change the soil brought forth was the water cycle. What was once a landscape covered in a large number of small crisscrossing streams was transformed into floodplains with large river channels At the same time, soils were storing water that could sustain more plant life and be cycled quickly back into the atmosphere

SUPPORTING FUNGI



Early soils, like those preserved in the Rhynie chert, supported a diverse range of fungi. Some formed beneficial relationships with plants, helping them mine for nutrients in exchange for carbon provided by the plants – others fed on decaying plant tissue

Award-winning photo turns out to be AI's deep-fake

TECH

PARIS: A German artist has sparked an angry row after winning a prestigious photography prize with an entry that was generated by artificial intelligence. Boris Eldagsen eventually rejected the gong from the Sony World Photography Awards after concluding that such competitions were not yet equipped to handle AI entries. The awards organisers initially accused the artist of "misleading" behaviour, but removed the accusation from a later statement after a furious reply from Eldagsen on Tuesday.

Many photographers and artists fear their livelihoods are under threat from AI tools that allow anyone to create striking images with just a quick text prompt.

The rapid rise of AI image generators has already sparked legal cases, as the tools are "trained" on a vast number of images—many of which could be copyright protected.

Last year, an AI-generated artwork won a prize at the Colorado State Fair, prompting soul-searching in the art world. Sony World Photography Awards announced Eldagsen's entry—a sepia-toned image of two women entitled "Pseudomnesia: The Electrician"—as the winner of its creative category in mid-March. Eldagsen gave interviews at the time explaining how he had made the work and saying he wanted to spark a debate over Artificial Intelligence.

Photo entitled "Pseudomnesia: The Electrician" was made using AI | BORIS ELDAGSEN

However, he wrote last week that "AI images and photography should not compete with each other in an award like this" and rejected the prize.

"I applied as a cheeky monkey, to find out if the competitions are prepared for AI images to enter. They are not," he wrote. The awards body said in its initial response that it had been looking forward to engaging the artist in a discussion about AI but had withdrawn the work "in keeping with his wishes".

BBC reported a spokesperson from World Photography Organisation saying, "following our correspondence with Boris and the warranties he provided, we felt that his entry fulfilled the criteria for this category, and we were supportive of his participation." Its statement added: "Given his actions and subsequent statement noting his deliberate attempts at misleading us, and therefore invalidating the warranties he provided, we no longer feel we are able to engage in a meaningful and constructive dialogue with him." But Eldagsen wrote on his website that it was "nonsense" to suggest the awards body had been willing to engage. "They had so many options to use this for good. They used none of them," he wrote, accusing them of ignoring questions from the media and other photographers.

Antisemitism on rise across the US

REPORT

JERUSALEM: Antisemitism rose in the US in 2022 and shows little sign of abating worldwide as political radicals have gained mainstream popularity, researchers said in a report released on Monday.

The report was released by Tel Aviv University's Centre for the Study of Contemporary European Jewry and the US-based Anti-Defamation League as Israel began observing its annual day of remembrance for the 6 million Jews killed in the Holocaust. Last year's report found that 2021 set a new high for antisemitic incidents, with the coronavirus pandemic fuelling a worldwide rise in antisemitism.

This year the researchers said that "2022 did not mark a universal reversal of the trend, and in some countries, most alarmingly the United States, it intensified."

Other countries with large Jewish populations, such as France, Canada, Argentina and the United Kingdom, showed a decrease in antisemitic incidents from the previous year.

The ADL found that the number of antisemitic incidents in the US increased by more than 35% in the past year, from 2,721 in 2021 to 3,697 in 2022. Antisemitic and white supremacist propaganda in the US also hit new levels, the organisation said. Antisemitic hate crimes rose in New York, Los Angeles and Chicago, home to country's three largest Jewish populations, as per their police departments.

Researchers found that visibly identifiable Jews, particularly ultra-Orthodox Jews, who are also known as haredi Jews, are the primary targets of antisemitic violence in the West. "Haredi Jews are the main victims not only because they are easily identifiable as Jews, but also because they are perceived as vulnerable and unlikely to fight back," report said.

FILM WRITERS AUTHORISE STRIKE OVER PAY

PROTEST

Unionised film and television writers have voted overwhelmingly to give their leaders the authority to call a strike if they're unable to reach an agreement on a new contract. In an email to members on Monday, the negotiating committee of the Writers Guild of America said nearly 98% of 9,218 votes were cast to authorise the strike, with nearly 79% of guild members voting. The guild is currently negotiating with the Alliance of Motion Picture and Television Producers on a deal aimed at addressing pay and other changes brought on by dominance of streaming services. The writers' three-year contract expires May 1, and leaders could call for a walkout the following day, but could extend the deadline if the two sides are close to a deal. Issues in negotiations include pay, writers' ability to work for different shows during downtime from other projects.

Actor-thespian Padmavati Rao's latest theatre production explores social and cultural themes that are relevant more than ever in contemporary times

PRECONCEPTION & PERSPECTIVE

DESE GOWDA

Growing up, renowned actor Padmavati Rao was exposed to different cultures early on in life. So when she was offered the role of a conservative woman in Apne Ghar Jaisa, a Hindi production that will be staged at Ranga Shankara, JP Nagar this weekend, Rao was not only amused at the irony, but also felt that it was an exciting challenge. "I've been lucky enough to have been exposed to multiple cultures, including in my own family. So, it was challenging for me to understand the character and her narrow-mindedness. I don't pick every project that comes my way. But the unique challenge that Apne Ghar Jaisa presented compelled me to do so," says Rao.

A story of a middle-class family renting out a room in their house to help tackle monthly expenses, Apne Ghar Jaisa questions people's normative beliefs and assumptions. As a symbolisation of such assumptions, Rao's character undergoes a journey that shakes her beliefs on a fundamental level. "Her perspective doesn't deserve to be judged. She's been brought up in a certain way and she doesn't know any better. When she comes face to face with a situation that questions everything she believes in, she begins to look at other possibilities," says Rao, who first made her mark in the Kannada movie Geetha (1981) alongside late actor Shankar Nag. In a career spanning four decades, Rao has worked with the likes of Sanjay Leela Bhansali and Girish Karnad.

Adapted by Anmol Vellani from Barry Bermange's one-act play Oldenberg, Apne Ghar Jaise explores strong social themes, which according to Rao, are relevant now more than ever. "The play urges us to question our normative beliefs and assumptions of ourselves and others – the things we have been brought up with and which have remained unquestioned. Those are the things that get us to explore and understand each other better, and to arrive at a theory of being," she shares, adding, "The country is so diverse and full of so many communities and religions. It is time we look at how we're going to become more accepting. The only way is if we learn to live together and coexist, and become nurturing of each other despite our differences." Rao adds that 'mouthing vague statements like 'India is a diverse country' wouldn't work unless we learn to live the talk at an individual level.

Featuring just two characters, and a minimalistic set, Apne Ghar Jaisa was challenging for Rao in other aspects as well, particularly in getting the audience to be on the same plane as her character until the second character comes in. "It's easy when you're saying things that the audience would want to hear. But it's challenging when you're saying things that are difficult to understand and accept...getting them to be on the same plane and inviting them to look at things in a balanced manner. But the writing was helpful," she says, adding that despite the play being staged in Hindi, the version that her character speaks in the play is one that is simple to understand, making it accessible to Bengaluru audiences. "Even if you are someone who knows very basic Hindi, you will be able to understand the play," she concludes.

> It's easy when you're saying things that the audience would want to hear. But it's challenging when you're saying things that are difficult to understand and accept

If this is your first time on the street, a food walk might be a good idea considering the array of options. Zafir Syed, a food blogger, who also conducts food walks, says, "You will have numerous choices and all of them will be recommended by someone. It can be overwhelming and if not planned, you can just be full at the first stop. For example, for my walks, I suggest five people share one portion of haleem," says Syed.

Conquering Peaks

This mountaineer set a new record by scaling two among the highest peaks in Asia, in a span of just three days

DESE GOWDA

When Naveen Mallesh (35) stood atop Mount Fansipan in Vietnam in February this year, he was thankful for an uneventful trek. At that moment, the mountaineer didn't imagine he would eventually set a record of becoming the fastest individual to scale two mountains in South-East Asia.

Having undergone a month-long recovery process following a near-death experience while attempting to scale Mount Manaslu in Nepal in September '22, Mallesh returned to mountaineering, scaling two among the highest peaks in South East Asia and Indo-China, Mount Kinabalu (Malaysia: 4,095m) and Mount Fansipan (Vietnam: 3,147m), respectively, within a span of just 3 days 10 hours and 49 minutes. "When I was talking to local guides in Fansipan, some didn't believe I had come there having trekked Kinabalu just days before. They thought I had set a new record. It's then that I applied for the Indian Book of Records and the Asian Book of Records," he says.

Mallesh's only desire was to get back to doing what he loves and that drove him to undertake the challenge. "I explored trekking routes in the South-East and flew to Singapore. I then completed the trek to Mount Kinabalu in a day and flew back to Singapore. I had an 18-hour layover, flew to Vietnam, and completed the trek to Mount Fansipan," he says, adding his experience helped him tackle the varied topography of both peaks.

Like most mountaineers, Mallesh has always wanted to climb the highest peaks in all of the seven continents. In 2019, he scaled the first of the seven - Mount Kilimanjaro, Tanzania. But the pandemic disrupted plans. So when he climbed the second of the seven peaks - Mount Elbrus, Russia, he dedicated that to Covid warriors. His next target was Mount Aconcagua, Argentina.

Yet again, the third wave and the ensuing restrictions forced the Banashankari resident to look elsewhere. He decided to scale Mount Manaslu – the world's eighth-highest peak at 8,163m. When he was within touching distance of the peak, an avalanche buried him under snow. "It's known as the 'dead zone'. I had blockages in my lungs and frostbites on my toes. Thankfully, I was rescued," shares Mallesh, who is now eyeing Mount Everest.

'NEVER MANAGED A PENNY FOR SOMEONE ELSE'

TURNING PAGES

ONE of the greatest stock-market investors who has ever lived, Rakesh Jhunjhunwala never managed a penny for someone else. Investors the world over would have gladly given him billions for fund management, but the man chose to build his empire through his own money. 'I don't want to be answerable to anyone,' he would often say in interviews. He loved his freedom. 'My wife is my only client,' he would say. To be sure, although Rakesh may not have entered the asset management business, he did borrow money from individuals in his initial days at high rates — promising them even higher returns than fixed deposits. The self-made billionaire earned his fortunes with his own talent. 'My brother was a practising chartered accountant. He managed to get me a loan of about ₹20 lakh from his clients. That is how it all started. I earned ₹25 lakh in the first year of my life in the stock market in 1985–86,' he said.

There is an anecdote that Rakesh began with a capital of ₹5000. That was, most likely, the amount in his bank account that he had earned during his CA articleship. However, it was the loan of ₹15–20 lakh from his brother's clients that really allowed him to make his initial returns at scale. Rakesh would elaborate on these early loans in media interviews after he had built much of his fortune. In an interview with investment guru Ramesh Damani, recorded on CNBC in 2011 (Wizards of Dalal Street), Rakesh said, 'There was a lady. At that time, FD interest was 10 per cent. I offered investors a return of 18 per cent. I had no security, but I told her after fifteen days I'll give security,' he said, referring to the shares he had bought. Another loan he recounted was from 'a Christian gentleman, Mr Mendonza, who gave a ₹5 lakh loan'. It seems that Mr Mendonza didn't even ask Rakesh for security against the loan and Rakesh paid him an interest rate of 24 per cent. Rakesh used the money he borrowed from these early loans to invest in the stock market. This is a highly risky practice and a few wrong bets could have easily ended the budding stock market investor's career.

This was the pre-Internet era, when stock-market information was often passed by word of mouth and physically being near the exchange helped. 'I would stand there and talk to people. I never told anyone that my father worked for the Income Tax Department, or they wouldn't talk to me. I used to tell them that he had a clothes shop,' Rakesh later recounted. Interestingly, Shankar Sharma, an investment guru whose career largely coincided with Rakesh's, says that physical presence in the trading ring conferred no real informational advantage. 'I was also a floor trader, we were all active on the floor of the exchange. I don't think it was any advantage. I mean, that was just the method of trading. The real advantage came from knowledge of trading itself, which I think is very important knowledge. Whether you traded physically on the floor or in front of a screen, what's different is only the method of trading,' he said. Despite Sharma's opinion, the physical nature of trading in the late 1980s and early 1990s did allow brokers to get away with high commissions and in some cases, malpractice.

In the mid-1980s, the Indian economy was still highly controlled, with the Licence Raj in effect. A few reforms were underway in sectors such as telephony, but there was no significant wealth creation. The Bombay Stock Exchange(BSE) was the country's largest stock exchange and had a nearly 100-year history. Trading was done manually on the exchange floor and some malpractices were rampant among stockbrokers. Orders were sometimes not honoured and commissions were high, at 3-4 per cent. Clients had to place their orders over the phone and often learnt the price the next day.

OF MUGHALS, GOGGLES, & HISTORY

HRIDAY RANJAN
Urban Bourbon
(Writer, comedian)

AFTER much push and pull, chapters on Mughals have been removed from history textbooks. The issue made me wonder. As a rapidly developing nation, are we looking back instead of forward? Or did the Mughals actually whitewash their role in history?

For kids of my generation, history books served as rough notebooks for art aspirants. The greatest historical figures were given goggles, French beards, and earrings by aspiring artists who would later kill the artist in them and join an IT company. Among the Mughal kings, the most well-known was Akbar. We read stories of Akbar and Birbal – the simpleton whose wit allowed him to enjoy democratic luxuries in the time when beheading was an accepted punishment. Akbar was also immortalised in movies like Mughal-e-Azam and Jodha Akbar. It was only later that I found out that he had a fully functional harem, and many wives. Mughal kings probably did not have to go through loyalty tests that men in the modern world have to.

Then there was Shah Jahan. The man whose love was immortalised for eternity. The man who encouraged every Indian lover to write Ashok loves Shilpa on important monuments. I later learnt that he died while imprisoned, staring at the Taj Mahal. While his love for Mumtaz might have been immortal, he had other wives, and even married his daughter as she resembled Mumtaz. Then there was Aurangzeb, an expansionist who ruled the largest kingdom among the Mughals. A man who fought wars well into his late 80s, killed his brother, and imprisoned his father. We read of Aurangzeb's battles with King Shivaji, and the cruel ways in which he killed those who stood in his way.

My biggest question was – will it really matter? Does removing a chapter on the Mughals instil a sense of pride and nationalism among students? Like we drew goggles and caps on historical figures, they're probably adding filters to the pictures and sharing them on Snapchat. How many times have we used the history we learnt in school for real life purposes? In fact, you can only use Social Studies in social circles. While I liked the subject, there was nothing I could do with my interest. There were no tuitions for Social Studies, so you had to resort to books in the library. And it didn't help that my Social Studies teachers all had the exuberance of Krishi Darshan anchors on Doordarshan.

In fact, the only people I feel bad for are the Social Science teachers at school. Unlike Math and Science teachers, they don't conduct 'tuitions' for some extra money. These are teachers who are actually passionate about their subjects, while fully aware that no parents are going to worry about their Social Studies marks. If there is anybody who should be up in arms with the decision, it should be the Social Studies teachers across India. These are teachers who are constantly overshadowed by the PT Sir, Maths teacher, and English ma'ams of the world.

And while we are altering history, could someone put in a word to Modiji to remove Algebra from Class 6 mathematics? I feel like the future voters of the country will really remember this favour when they turn 18. For, is a Mughal king really more cruel than coefficients? Does Aurangzeb's cruelty really compare to the fear of constants, variables, and quadratic equations? And if we are removing chapters from history – could those periods be declared as 'Games' period? Even the Mughals watching will nod and approve of the move. We all know that history is written by the victor, but it is studied by bored kids in school!

(The writer's views are his own)

Sonal Monteiro

ABHILASH, SONAL MONTEIRO TEAM UP FOR MARGARET LOVER OF RAMACHARI

The title and the character names in Giridhar Kumbara's crime film is inspired by the yesteryear classic, Nagarahavu

A SHARADHAA

IT is clear that the impact of Puttanna Kanagal's all-time classic, Nagarahavu is still strong. While there have been films titled Ramachari, and Mr and Mrs Ramachari, the latest film to be inspired from the classic is Margaret Lover of Ramachari.

Written and directed by Giridhar Kumbara, the film stars Abhilash in his first lead role. The actor, who began as a theatre artiste, has played important roles in films like KGF, Love Mocktail, Badava Rascal, and Gurudev Hoysala. Abhilash is set to play Ramachari aka Ramu in the film, which stars Sonal Monteiro as Meera Raghav Ram aka Maggi, and Yash Shetty as the antagonist Jayanta aka Jaleela Margaret Lover of Ramachari also stars noted actors Ravi Shankar and Avinash in pivotal roles.

Backed by Vanitha HN's Nihant Productions, Telugu cinematographer Kolanchi Rakesh is making his Kannada debut with the project, which will have music by Vasuki Vaibhav. "We have taken reference from Nagarahavu, but it is a different story, and will be shot in Chitradurga, which is one of the reasons to title the film Margaret Lover of Ramachari," says Abhilash.

The muhurath is planned on April 24, and the film will officially go on floors on May 11. "3 years of work has gone into the script, which is a serious subject revolving around the importance of consent."

Vijay Raghavendra's Raaghu to release on this date

Directed by Anand Raj, the makers released the trailer of the film, which will hit the theatres on April 28

CE FEATURES

RAAGHU will be yet another experimental film from National award-winning actor Vijay Raghavendra. The trailer was launched recently ahead of the film's release on April 28. Anand Raj's directorial will see Vijay Raghavendra in a solo act throughout the film. The trailer had Shivarajkumar's powerful voice that only upped the anticipation about the film.

Speaking at the trailer release, Vijay Raghavendra said that a lot of work has gone behind the scenes of Raaghu, and praised the technicians for their skill. "It is a solo act film where only one artist appears in the entire movie. It was a different experience to act all alone. I am confident it will be a unique film for the audience too," said Vijay.

According to the director, Raaghu is completely a technician's film. "Even though Raaghu just has one actor, the film still has the required songs, stunts, twists, and will be quite a theatrical experience," he said.

Backed by Ranvith Shivakumar, Raaghu has cinematography by Uday Leela, and music by Suraj Jois.

'Working with Pramod helped me elevate my performance'

...says Thejaswini Sharma, who talks about her first commercial entertainer, English Manja, and working with the actor

CE FEATURES

THEJASWINI Sharma, who began her career with content-oriented films like Flat No 9, and Mary, is now happy to be testing the waters with her first commercial outing, English Manja. which is set to release on April 21. Directed by Aryaa Mahesh, the film stars Pramod alongside Thejaswini. "I started with women-centric cinema that revolved around my character. Having said that, English Manja is a commercial subject, which has a mass appeal, and also gives its heroine a space to perform."

Being part of a commercial film comes with its advantages, and Thejaswini too understands the importance of starring in such projects. "I began my career with content-oriented subjects only to explore my acting skills. Working in English Manja, I got to realise that commercial films do have everything glorified, but even these mass entertainers require a certain standard of acting," says the actor.

Thejaswini plays Kamli, an innocent yet brave girl, who enters into English Manja's life, and shows him how love has the power to heal anything. "The impact of Kamli in Manja's life is brought out in this action drama that is laced with love and friendship."

Sharing her experience of working with actor Pramod and director Aryaa Mahesh, Thejaswini says, "Pramod is a fantastic actor, and sharing screen space with such a performer was important for me at this stage of my career. Pramod is very at ease with his work, and working with such a co-star is necessary since his presence helped me elevate my performance. Aryaa Mahesh is very disciplined, and his experience does the talking."

Thejaswini is simultaneously working on a web series, Super Couple, which is in its third season. "I am enjoying both formats. Web series give more time to learn. A film has its own process, and it is nice to explore my skills," says Thejaswini, who is looking forward to better projects coming her way.

Backed by David R English Manja has cinematography by S Nagesh, music by BR Hemanth Kumar and lyrics written by Dr. Nagendra Prasad and Simple Suni.

'Hopefully, the next generation of women won't fight our fights'

AVINASH RAMACHANDRAN

IF there is anything that we know of the multitalented Priyanka Chopra Jonas, it is that she is not afraid of challenges. Otherwise, how did a small-town girl with hardly a connection to Tamil Nadu, not just make her acting debut in Tamil (Thamizhan, 2002), but also made her singing debut in the same film in a language that she didn't quite have a connection with? Interestingly, even in Hollywood, it was singing that became her first calling card. But now, the two-time National Award winner is a bonafide leading lady there, and just about 21 years and 2 weeks after making her cinema debut, Priyanka will be seen headlining the Prime Video original, Citadel. "I know the struggle of having our Indian films find a proper theatrical release outside the mainstream markets of India. People didn't really make that effort to watch films with subtitles. Now, subtitled films from other countries are winning Best Picture Oscars. Stories have moved across borders and languages, and Citadel is a prime example of that," says Priyanka.

Excerpts:

It's been quite a long journey from Miss World to Indian cinema to now, Hollywood...

This journey started when I was 17. There have been many ups and downs in my career, and a lot of lessons I've learned in my life. My career was my film school. What I learned from Hindi films is the foundation of whatever I've done in other languages. In fact, I gained the status and confidence to do English films only on the strength of what I did in Hindi cinema. The industry made me into the actor I am today.

What is it about Citadel that made you say yes to it?

It was a truly global show. The scale and the expanse encompassed multiple countries. Citadel is a global spy network that has multiple intelligence people working together to save humanity. The concept of a long-standing neighbour of yours being a global spy was fascinating. It is a new attempt on the digital medium and is an original idea. It was even more exciting that the makers decided it was me who should be shouldering the project.

What was the one takeaway from a series with such a wide expanse and novel setting?

The one thing that was different about Citadel from all the other movies I have done in my career is the attention to detail. We shot six episodes over a period of 1.5 years. There was a lot of focus on the tiniest details to ensure our characters were interesting and not just going through the motions of superficial emotions. I am a student of life, and I want to learn so much from everything. Working with the Russo Brothers, almost 400 technicians on a daily basis, a talented writers' room, and I learnt how one can be happy working in such a huge setup.

It's been 10 years in Hollywood as an actor. Things wouldn't have been easy...

There were so many roadblocks. Though I started in 2010-11 with my music, I quickly realised it wasn't my strong suit. I needed to get back to acting. The first few roadblocks were convincing people that a brown girl could be a leading actor. My quest was to be a leading actor. When I started in Hindi, I started with smaller roles and built credibility. I had to do that in Hollywood too. I went to directors with showreels, built credibility, and then, Quantico happened. I had to convince people of my talent and come to a point where I could headline films in America just like I did in India.

The evolution of roles for women in Indian cinema is at an interesting point now. What is your observation of this phenomenon?

I started at a time when heroines were mostly just sidekicks, appearing in 5-6 scenes, and song-and-dance routines. In my journey, I have seen how the female actors of my generation decided they were much more than that, and demanded better roles. What my generation did was on the strength of what our previous generation of actors fought for. We had superstars like Sridevi and Madhuri Dixit, who commanded a lot of power. My generation of actors convinced producers of their market, and sold films on their billing, and made writers write such stories. I also think that comes from conversation. I am very proud of how actors like Vidya Balan, Anushka Sharma, Alia Bhatt, and Deepika Padukone stood up, asked for more, and didn't stop till they got it. Hopefully, the next generation of women won't fight our fights.

In many ways, your global success from your humble beginnings is a tale of inspiration for many such young girls. Is there a piece of advice you'd like to share with them?

My parents gave me the freedom to choose the life I want. They never cut my wings and asked me to stay home. So, I think the advice is for the parents and the men in women's lives to ensure they support them. Don't curb the opportunities and ambitions of women. Be it the parents or partners or other people in society, women need men as allies. It is important that the men of the world should understand that a country progresses as a whole, and that definitely includes the women of the society.
